IN THE HEART OF DEAR OLD EMORY
WHERE THE SUN DOTH SHINE,
THAT IS WHERE OUR HEARTS ARE TURNING
'ROUND OLD EMORY'S SHRINE.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

THO' THE YEARS AROUND US GATHER,
CROWNED WITH LOVE AND CHEER,
STILL THE MEMORY OF OLD EMORY
GROWS TO US MORE DEAR.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

PRESENTATION OF THE
MARION LUTHER BRITTAIN SERVICE AWARD

This award, symbolic of all honors bestowed on students by the university, is an expression of gratitude for service performed without expectation of reward or recognition. The award was established at Emory in 1942 through a bequest from a distinguished Emory alumnus, former President Brittain of the Georgia Institute of Technology.

KLAMATH LOUISE HENRY 19C

KLAMATH LOUISE HENRY, A GRADUATING SENIOR MAJORING IN anthropology, with a minor in environmental science, has been named the 2019 recipient of the university's highest student honor, the Marion Luther Brittain Service Award, recognizing meritorious service to the institution.

From Fernley, Nevada, Henry is a member of the Shasta tribe of California and the Tuscarora Nation of the Haudenosaunee Confederacy and one of the fewer than 1 percent of Emory undergraduates of Native American ancestry. As such, she has worked diligently to educate the Emory community about tribal sovereignty, Native American contributions and history as well as the difficulties indigenous students face at traditional colleges and universities. Working with Associate Vice Provost for Undergraduate Enrollment and Dean of Admission John Latting and others, Henry's service on the Native American Initiative Working Committee led to helping organize and lead the university's first Native American Students symposium. This symposium brought experts from around the country to Emory to explore how this university and others can grow and better support their campuses' Native American populations.

In addition to this work, Henry served as an intern for Emory's Commission on Racial and Social Justice, as a sophomore adviser in Dobbs Hall, and as a member of the Residence Hall Association. She has a demonstrated commitment to experimental ethnography as well, presenting her research titled "The Three Sisters Resiliency Project" at New Echota State Park and at the SSMF Conference at the University of Pennsylvania. A former Emory varsity softball athlete, Henry has shared her love of the sport as a coach to middle school, club, and college athletes in the Atlanta area and, most recently, as a director of operations at a training facility in nearby Chamblee, Georgia.

For her purpose-driven dedication and passion, her leadership at Emory and beyond, her pursuit of understanding and inclusion, and her exceptional potential to create change in the world beyond her time at Emory, Henry has demonstrated the "significant, meritorious, and devoted service" deserving of this honor.

Chosen by the university president from nominations by the deans on behalf of the United Methodist Church Board of Higher Education and Ministry.

MARY JO LECHOWICZ

*Professor of Hematology and Medical Oncology
Margaret H. Rollins Chair in Cancer, Winship Cancer Institute
Director of Medical Student Societies and Service Learning for School of Medicine
Vice-Chair for Education in the Department of Hematology and Medical Oncology*

SINCE JOINING THE EMORY SCHOOL OF MEDICINE'S DEPARTMENT of Hematology and Medical Oncology in 2003, Mary Jo Lechowicz has distinguished herself through her commitment to teaching, her significant scholarly contributions, and her adherence to the highest professional and personal standards.

Lechowicz is consistently recognized as an exemplary educator. From developing a course on the optimal design and conduct of clinical trials to taking a leading role in revamping the medical school's core curriculum, and from directing a program to expose high school students to cancer research to organizing a recurring conference for faculty development, Lechowicz has elevated the education bar for medical students, residents, fellows, faculty, and community members. Her passion for medical education was recognized in 2013 with the School of Medicine's Dean's Teaching Award.

She took these skills across the globe, playing a key role in creating the curriculum for medical education and faculty development at the Tbilisi State Medical University in the Republic of Georgia, where she is a visiting professor.

In her clinical practice and her research, Lechowicz is a thought leader in virally related lymphomas. She treats patients with these conditions as a member of Winship's Bone Marrow Transplant division. Through a clinical trial focus, she has developed collaborations throughout the country to improve awareness, outcomes, and knowledge of virally related and T-cell lymphomas. She is a sought-after speaker on this topic at international, national, regional, and local conferences.

Her students and colleagues alike hold Lechowicz in the highest esteem. Perhaps most telling, she won the "Doctor Who Could Take Care of Your Grandmother Award," given each year by the graduating class of the School of Medicine, twice. A higher vote of confidence is hard to imagine.

PRESENTATION OF THE THOMAS JEFFERSON AWARD

Awarded each year to a faculty member or administrative officer for significant service to the university through personal activities, influence, and leadership.

JAGDISH SHETH

*Charles H. Kellstadt Chair in Marketing
Goizueta Business School*

THOMAS JEFFERSON ONCE SAID, "DO YOU WANT TO KNOW WHO you are? Don't ask. Act! Action will delineate and define you." Jagdish Sheth has led his personal and professional life in such a way that there is no doubt who he is.

During his career, including his twenty-five years at Emory University, he has consistently generated breakthrough research and knowledge in several subdisciplines of marketing, including consumer psychology, relationship marketing, international marketing, and competitive strategy, as well as in leadership and geopolitics. He has taught and mentored Goizueta doctoral, MBA, and BBA students, as well as Emory College students.

He has published more than 350 research papers and books in marketing, and serves on the boards of the Community Foundation of Greater Atlanta and the World Affairs Council of Atlanta, and he has been active advising international governments and policy makers including the US Department of Transportation and the government of Singapore.

Sheth stands out for philanthropic efforts that have impacted scholars, citizens, and organizations across the globe. He and his wife, Madhu Sheth, have endowed the Sheth Foundation, which supports academic scholarship, especially among doctoral students; the Sheth Family Foundation, whose mission is to support local and global charities, as well as cultural and social activities of Indian NGOs; and international alumni and faculty awards and lectureships at Emory University, the University of Illinois, the University of Pittsburgh, and Kennesaw State University.

Sheth is a fellow of the American Psychological Association, American Marketing Association, and Academy of Marketing Science and past president of the Association for Consumer Research. He has received more than thirty awards, including all top four academic awards bestowed by the American Marketing Association. At Emory, he has been honored as a University Distinguished Lecturer, with the Marion Creekmore Award for Internationalization, and with Goizueta Business School's Global Innovation Award.

Beyond his scholarship and his passion for preparing future generations of scholars and leaders through his teaching and mentorship, Sheth is the ultimate servant leader.

The following awards will be presented during the diploma ceremony at the school of each recipient.

Goddard III symbolically will authorize President Sterk to confer degrees upon the graduates, including the recipients of honorary degrees.*

HONORARY DEGREES

PATRICIA FLATLEY BRENNAN

*Nursing Innovator, Data Engineering Entrepreneur, and Health Care Pioneer
Doctor of Science, honoris causa*

PATRICIA FLATLEY BRENNAN IS DIRECTOR OF THE NATIONAL Library of Medicine (NLM), a component of the National Institutes of Health (NIH). The NLM is the world's largest biomedical library and the producer of digital information services used by scientists, health professionals, and members of the public worldwide. She assumed the directorship in August 2016.

Brennan came to NIH from the University of Wisconsin–Madison, where she was the Lillian L. Moehlman Bascom Professor at the School of Nursing and College of Engineering. She also led the Living Environments Laboratory at the Wisconsin Institutes for Discovery, which develops new ways for effective visualization of high dimensional data.

Brennan is a pioneer in the development of information systems for patients. She developed ComputerLink, an electronic network designed to reduce isolation and improve self-care among home care patients. She directed HeartCare, a web-based information and communication service that helps home-dwelling cardiac patients recover faster, and with fewer symptoms. She also directed Project HealthDesign, an initiative designed to stimulate the next generation of personal health records. Brennan has also conducted external evaluations of health information technology architectures and worked to repurpose engineering methods for health care.

She received a master of science degree in nursing from the University of Pennsylvania and a PhD in industrial engineering from the University of Wisconsin–Madison. Following seven years of clinical practice in critical care nursing and psychiatric nursing, Brennan held several academic positions at Marquette University, Milwaukee; Case Western Reserve University, Cleveland; and the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

A past president of the American Medical Informatics Association, Brennan was elected to the Institute of Medicine of the National Academy of Sciences (now the National Academy of Medicine) in 2001. She is a fellow of the American Academy of Nursing, the American College of Medical Informatics, and the New York Academy of Medicine.

HELENE D. GAYLE

*Champion of Female Empowerment, Public Health Leader, and Community Advocate
Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa*

HELENE D. GAYLE IS PRESIDENT AND CEO OF THE CHICAGO Community Trust, one of the nation's leading community foundations. The trust works with donors, nonprofits, community leaders, and residents to lead and inspire philanthropic efforts that improve the quality of life in the Chicago region.

Previously, Gayle was CEO of McKinsey Social Initiative (now McKinsey.org), a nonprofit that builds partnerships for social impact. For almost a decade, she was president and CEO of CARE, a leading international humanitarian organization. An expert on global development, humanitarian, and health issues, Gayle spent twenty years with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, working primarily on HIV/AIDS. She also worked at the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, directing programs on HIV/AIDS and other global health issues.

Gayle serves on public company and nonprofit boards that include The Coca-Cola Company, Colgate-Palmolive Company, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Brookings Institution, the Center for Strategic and International Studies, New America, the ONE Campaign, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, and the Economic Club of Chicago. She is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, the American Public Health Association, the National Academy of Medicine, the National Medical Association, and the American Academy of Pediatrics.

Named one of the “100 Most Powerful Women” by Forbes and one of the “Power and Influence Top 50” by the NonProfit Times, she has authored numerous articles on global and domestic public health issues, poverty alleviation, gender equality, and social justice.

Gayle was born and raised in Buffalo, New York. She earned a BA in psychology at Barnard College, an MD at the University of Pennsylvania, and an MPH at Johns Hopkins University. She has received sixteen honorary degrees and holds faculty appointments at the University of Washington and Emory University.

Dr. Gayle will be presented by Michael A. Elliott, dean of Emory College of Arts and Sciences.

PRESIDENT'S MEDAL

AMBASSADOR ANDREW YOUNG 91H

Civil Rights Icon, Humanitarian, and Global Diplomat

IN THE DECADES SINCE ANDREW YOUNG HELPED CHANGE THE COURSE of history as a leader in the civil rights movement, he has built a remarkable legacy as a civic activist, elected official, groundbreaking ambassador, social entrepreneur, and adviser to presidents. Today, he leads the Andrew J. Young Foundation's efforts to develop and support new generations of visionary leaders who will create sustainable global approaches to economic development, poverty alleviation, and the challenge of hunger.

Young attended segregated schools in New Orleans and graduated early from Howard University before attending Hartford Theological Seminary. It was during his time as a pastor in southern Georgia that he became active in the civil rights movement, organizing voter registration drives in 1954 in the face of death threats. After a few years with the National Council of Churches in New York, he returned to Georgia in 1961 to lead the Southern Christian Leadership Conference's “citizenship schools,” working closely with Martin Luther King Jr. to teach nonviolent organizing strategies. He was a key strategist and negotiator during campaigns that led to the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

In 1972, Young was elected to Congress, becoming the first African American representative from the Deep South since Reconstruction. He sponsored legislation that established a US Institute for Peace, the African Development Bank, and the Chattahoochee River National Park, while negotiating federal funds for MARTA (Metro Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority), the Atlanta highway system, and a new international airport for Atlanta.

In 1977, President Jimmy Carter appointed Young to serve as the nation's first African American ambassador to the United Nations. Young was an architect of the first US Africa policy grounded in human rights rather than simply cold war calculus, and he helped negotiate an end to white-minority rule in Namibia and Zimbabwe.

DIPLOMA CEREMONIES

Young was instrumental in the building of modern-day Atlanta. He was elected mayor in 1981 and reelected in 1985 with nearly 85 percent of the vote. Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport, whose development he championed, made it possible for Atlanta to attract 1,100 new businesses, $70 billion in foreign direct investment, and 1 million new jobs to the region during his tenure. It is now the busiest airport in the world. The city hosted the Democratic National Convention in 1988. Young also led the successful effort to bring the 1996 Olympic Games to Atlanta.

Young's involvement with Africa has continued in the years since his term as ambassador. President Bill Clinton appointed him founding chair of the Southern African Enterprise Development Fund, and in 1996 he cofounded Good Works International, where for more than fifteen years he promoted an approach to sustainable economic development in Africa and the Caribbean grounded in profitability and social responsibility. Through the Andrew J. Young Foundation and its partnerships with international agencies and the private sector, he continues to focus on expanding educational opportunity as well as innovative approaches to alleviating hunger and poverty in the US and abroad.

Young is the recipient of the Presidential Medal of Freedom and the French Legion d'Honneur and has received honorary degrees from more than one hundred colleges and universities.

Young was born in 1932 in New Orleans, and he currently lives in Atlanta with his wife, Carolyn McClain Young. He is also a father of three daughters and one son, and a grandfather of eight and great grandfather of one.

Ambassador Andrew Young will be presented by President Claire E. Sterk.

EMORY COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES ORIGINATED FROM a concern for higher education in a Christian setting on the part of the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Chartered in 1836 in Oxford, Georgia, the college was named after John Emory (1789–1835), bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1964 the college at Oxford was named Oxford College of Emory University.

Emory College became Emory University by virtue of a charter granted by the Superior Court of DeKalb County on January 25, 1915. Although classes on the Atlanta campus were begun in the schools of law and theology as early as 1916, the college did not move to Atlanta until 1919. The university now includes nine schools, most tracing their origins to years before the chartering of the university itself. These schools are Emory College and Oxford College (1836), the School of Medicine (1854), Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing (1905), Candler School of Theology (1914), the School of Law (1916), Roberto C. Goizueta Business School (1919), the James T. Laney School of Graduate Studies (1919), and Rollins School of Public Health (1990).

The intent of the founders is perpetuated by the university's vision statement: A destination university internationally recognized as an inquiry-driven, ethically engaged, and diverse community, whose members work collaboratively for positive transformation in the world through courageous leadership in teaching, research, scholarship, health care, and social action.

A SHORT HISTORY OF COMMENCEMENT AT EMORY

This is Emory's 174th commencement. The exercises witnessed today represent an imposition of medieval academic tradition on an institution that had its roots in the nineteenth-century frontier. The first Emory commencement was held in 1840, four years after Emory College had been chartered and two years after the college's first classes. That first ceremony, however, was without graduating students, as there were no graduates until the following year. Then, as now, sermons and addresses had a central focus in the exercises, though rarely have these addresses been so crucial as in 1849, when all fifteen members of the graduating class were assigned speaking places and spoke for as long as half an hour each.

Early commencement audiences sat for up to four hours in the midsummer heat to listen to the numerous student and faculty orations on such topics as "Our Government Unfavorable to High Attainment in Literature," "Social Equality," and "Modern Refinements." These addresses in the early days were in English, contrary to the practice at many other institutions. As President A. B. Longstreet argued in 1842, speeches in Latin and Greek were "worthy of the name pedantry, and nothing more." In spite of this advice, several later generations of students instructed their audiences in the ancient tongues.

ACADEMIC DRESS AND CUSTOMS

Academic dress goes back to the founding of European universities, which were the products of the intellectual revival of the twelfth century. All medieval students were clerks and consequently wore the dress of clergy. This is the academic costume we wear today, with certain changes introduced in the sixteenth century by Protestant reformers. The oldest articles of academic wear were the robe, over which was worn the habit, usually a kind of tunic with short, wide sleeves. The medieval hood was lined with fur or inexpensive skins and could be gathered around the neck or pulled up on the head as a turban. It is uncertain when different colors became associated with different degrees.

There were four kinds of caps: the round cap, reserved for doctoral dignity; the tena, a round cap with strings tied under the chin, worn by jurists; the square cap; and the Tudor bonnet. At Oxford University in 1565 the square cap became the norm, but the faculties that had become laicized adopted the Tudor bonnet that is still worn by doctoral candidates today. The basic design of all academic costume in the United States was first established in 1895 and was first used at Emory by the Class of 1902. The bachelor's gown features an embroidered Emory University seal in gold thread and has long, pointed, open sleeves. The master's gown has longer sleeves, which are closed at the bottom with openings about midway for the hands. Beginning in 2014, the bachelor's and master's gowns are made of fabric spun from molten plastic pellets from recycled water bottles. An average of twenty-three post-consumer plastic bottles are used to create each gown, furthering Emory's commitment to sustainability initiatives. The doctor's gown has full-length lapels of velvet and bell-shaped sleeves with three horizontal velvet bars. Tassels for bachelor's and master's caps are black; tassels of gold thread may be worn by doctors. Gowns and caps are usually black, although Emory and some other schools have specified that their doctors may wear gowns of distinctive colors. Yale's deep blue doctoral gown, Harvard's crimson, Columbia's dark blue, and Emory's blue and gold are a few that may be seen in the procession.

The hood varies for the respective degrees, the doctor's hood being longer and fuller than the master's. The field of study can be determined from the velvet facing on the hood according to the following color scheme: white, the arts; gold-yellow, science; purple, law; apricot, nursing; green, medicine; teal, physical therapy; scarlet, theology; salmon, public health; drab, business; and dark blue, doctors of philosophy. The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the degree-granting institution. For Emory graduates the lining is blue with a chevron of gold.

The president of Emory University wears a badge of office given to the university in 1965 by the Emory chapter, Gamma of Georgia, of Phi Beta Kappa. Designed by Eric Clements of Birmingham, England, and executed by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths in London, the solid gold badge is an open teardrop enclosing the raised seal of the university and is suspended on a gold chain.

The chief marshal and deputy marshals lead the academic procession. The faculty marshals and the secretary of the university jointly manage the forming of the procession, the seating of commencement participants, and the planning of other aspects of commencement exercises. Marshals are identified by their unique blue tunics, which are sleeveless and lined with gold.

The Quadrangle stage with blue canopy was named the University Marshals' Stage in honor of the dedication and service provided by Emory's chief marshals throughout history.

The university mace is carried in the procession by the immediate past president of the Student Government Association. Academically the mace is the symbol of a university as a corporate body of scholars possessing its own jurisdiction and its own legally constituted authority. Traditionally the mace is borne in procession immediately before the chief officer of a university and is placed before her or him during formal academic ceremonies.

The mace of Emory University, a gift from D.V.S., an Emory College senior honor society, was designed by Eric Clements and executed in silver and gold by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths. In the teardrop at the apex of the mace, against a background of oxidized silver, is a freestanding representation in gold of a human skeleton. This is Dooley, the "spirit" of Emory, who traditionally "rises" once each spring and for a week rules campus. Immediately below the skeleton, in an open teardrop, is a gold sphere divided (by stippling) into eight segments. Topping the sphere is a simple cross, symbolizing the relationship of Emory University to the Methodist church. The seal of the university is sculptured in gold within the circular base.

Before each school in the procession, the school's student marshal carries its gonfalon, a banner in the color associated with the respective school's degree: medicine, green; public health, salmon; nursing, apricot; theology, scarlet; law, purple; and business, drab. The gonfalon of the graduate school is gold representing Emory's gold, and the gonfalons of Emory College and Oxford College represent Emory's blue.

EMORY ALUMNI LEGACY MEDALLION

Graduating students who have a parent, grandparent, and/or sibling who is also an Emory graduate are wearing specially commissioned medallions hanging from blue and gold ribbons. The medallions are expressions of the university's gratitude to those families who have chosen to continue the Emory education tradition throughout the generations.

THE COMMENCEMENT SETTING

Spectators on the Quadrangle are seated facing the former Pitts Theology Library, one of the two oldest buildings on the Atlanta campus. Designed by the distinguished Pittsburgh architect Henry Hornbostel (1867–1961), Convocation Hall—as it is now known—was the original theology building in 1916. It was renovated in 1975 by architect Paul Rudolph to house the expanded library collection of Candler School of Theology. Renovated again, the building reopened in 2019 as a community gathering space and to welcome visitors and members of the campus community alike as they meet with the university's president and other leaders.

Directly behind the spectators are Carlos Hall, the other original campus building, and the expanded Michael C. Carlos Museum. Formerly home to the School of Law, Carlos Hall was renovated in 1986 according to a design by Michael Graves to house the museum and the Department of Art History. The museum is named for the philanthropist who donated most of the cost of the facility. It was designed to maintain the classic symmetry and proportion of the surrounding buildings, which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Bowden Hall, east of the museum, was constructed in 1951 in the same style as the original campus buildings. Originally the History Building, it was renamed in 1991 in honor of the late Henry L. Bowden, former chair of the Board of Trustees of Emory University. To the southeast of Bowden Hall is the Center for Library and Information Resources. The center joins the tall, red-tile-crowned Robert W. Woodruff Library and is linked to the Asa Griggs Candler Memorial Library at the east end of the Quadrangle. Candler Library was dedicated in 1926 in honor of the man who donated the land for the campus and who provided the university with strong leadership in its early years.

Next to Convocation Hall is the Loula Walker and Ely Reeves Callaway Sr. Memorial Center. Thanks to a generous gift from alumnus Ely R. Callaway Jr. in honor of his parents, this center joins the former Humanities Building with the original Physics Building, which was constructed in 1919.

At the west end of the Quadrangle is the Administration Building (1955), a gift of Charles Howard Candler. Like his father, Asa, Charles chaired the Board of Trustees for many years. Between the Administration Building and the former Pitts Library sits the more modern White Hall, the main classroom building of Emory College. Above the trees on the north side of the Quadrangle are the curved red roof of the William R. Cannon Chapel—designed by Paul Rudolph and dedicated in 1981—and the towers of Emory University Hospital to the east.
