THE ONE HUNDRED SIXTY-FIFTH COMMENCEMENT
THE TENTH OF MAY
TWO THOUSAND TEN

The Alma Mater

IN THE HEART OF DEAR OLD EMORY
WHERE THE SUN DOTTH SHINE,
THAT IS WHERE OUR HEARTS ARE TURNING
'ROUND OLD EMORY'S SHRINE.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

THO' THE YEARS AROUND US GATHER,
CROWNED WITH LOVE AND CHEER,
STILL THE MEMORY OF OLD EMORY
GROWS TO US MORE DEAR.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

PRESENTATION OF THE MARION LUTHER BRITTAIN SERVICE AWARD

This award, symbolic of all honors bestowed on students by the University, is an expression of gratitude for service performed without expectation of reward or recognition. The award was established at Emory in 1942 through a bequest from a distinguished Emory alumnus, former President Brittain of the Georgia Institute of Technology.

Alexander Stephen Kappus 10C

FOR FOUR YEARS, ALEX KAPPUS HAS BEEN A SCHOLAR, AN innovator, a compassionate contributor, and a stalwart advocate for those who live on the fringes of our society. As president of the Student Government Association, he sought to move that organization from one that only oversees and governs to one that leads by example in giving back to communities in need around the city and around the country. His work in the still-ravaged wards of New Orleans during spring break is a testament to the commitment he has to what Scripture calls, “the least of these.”

As founder of the student organization the Synergy Movement, Kappus rightly observed how technology often inhibits face-to-face communication and a lack of warmth in our world, so he sought to remedy that on our campus by forming an organization that would make it possible for us to grow closer as a university community.

With activities involving faculty and staff, their families, and also Emory students, Kappus and the members of Synergy went about campus committing “random acts of kindness” and “intentional acts of engagement” sponsoring community carnivals, festivals, and other programs to bring about his vision of the “small town” community feeling he knew could be Emory.

Kappus is a Humanitarian Award recipient, president of the Student Government Association, founder of the Synergy Movement at Emory, a member of 100 Community Builders, an Omicron Delta Kappa honoree, and now a Brittain Award winner. All of these recognitions define him and his vision for Emory University—a vision of inclusiveness, compassion, excellence, and commitment.

We are supremely proud to honor Alexander Stephen Kappus with the 2010 Marion Luther Brittain Award for exemplary service to the Emory University community.

PRESENTATION OF THE UNIVERSITY SCHOLAR/TEACHER AWARD

Chosen by the University president from nominations by the deans on behalf of the United Methodist Church Board of Higher Education and Ministry.

E. Brooks Holifield
Charles Howard Candler Professor of American Church History

PROFESSOR E. BROOKS HOLIFIELD IS A CONSUMMATE SCHOLAR, admired by his colleagues at Candler School of Theology and in the broader academic community for embodying the highest scholarly standards. He earned a BA from Hendrix College, a BD from Yale Divinity School, and an MA and PhD from Yale University. He has written books on seventeenth-century Puritanism, the antebellum South, religion and psychology in America, health and medicine in the Methodist traditions, and the cultural history of early colonial America. His research focuses on patterns of change in American religious history.

His publications include seven single-author books. God’s Ambassadors: A History of the Christian Clergy in America (2007) was selected as the Book of the Year by the American Academy of Parish Clergy. Theology in America: Christian Thought from the Age of the Puritans to the Civil War (2003) received the Albert C. Outler Prize of the American Society of Church History, was chosen as an Outstanding Book by University Press Books for Public and Secondary School Libraries, and was selected by Choice as an Outstanding Academic Title. His other books include Era of Persuasion: American Thought and Culture, 1521–1680 (1989), Health and Medicine in the Methodist Tradition (1986), A History of Pastoral Care in America (1983), The Gentlemen Theologians (1978), and The Covenant Sealed (1974).

Professor Holifield’s scholarship has earned him numerous academic awards and fellowships, including three National Endowment for the Humanities grants and two of the highest grants within theological education (a Louisville Institute Fellowship and a Henry Luce Fellowship). His academic guild recognized his contributions by electing him president of the American Society of Church History in 2002. His service at Emory has included serving as chair of many faculty searches, including for two theology deans and chair of the Graduate Division of Religion. He has provided important leadership in curriculum review and revision at Candler. In the wider academy, he has served on the editorial board of journals and book series and was a member of the Pulpit and Pew Project of the Lilly Endowment from 2001 to 2005.

When students describe Professor Holifield’s teaching, they regularly use the words “brilliant” and “passionate.” His colleagues also recognize him as a master teacher who is generous in mentoring doctoral students and junior faculty. Professor E. Brooks Holifield embodies the best of the values of a theological and university educator.

PRESENTATION OF THE THOMAS JEFFERSON AWARD

Awarded each year to a faculty member or administrative officer for significant service to the University through personal activities, influence, and leadership.

Rudolph P. Byrd

Goodrich C. White Professor of American Studies in the Graduate Institute of the Liberal Arts and the Department of African American Studies

EDUCATED AT LEWIS & CLARK COLLEGE (BA) AND YALE University (MA, MPhil, PhD), Rudolph P. Byrd joined the faculty of Emory University in 1991 as director of the Program (now Department) of African American Studies. Professor Byrd is the founding director of the James Weldon Johnson Institute for Advanced Interdisciplinary Studies at Emory University, which fosters new scholarship, teaching, and public dialogue focused upon the origins, evolution, and legacy of the modern civil rights movement from 1905 to the present. With his vision, energy, dedication to teaching and scholarship, and commitment to excellence, he has built on the strong foundation in the African American studies program. During his tenure, Professor Byrd has helped bring to Emory outstanding faculty, obtained grants from the National Endowment for the Arts and the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation, organized stimulating symposia, and established academic collaborations with other institutions in Atlanta and beyond. Professor Byrd has been a leading builder of Emory's research library collections, the acquisition of the Alice Walker Archive providing a notable example.

Professor Byrd is the author and editor of eight books including: I Call Myself an Artist: Writings by and about Charles Johnson ed. (1999); Charles Johnson's Novels: Writing the American Palimpsest (2005); and The Essential Writings of James Weldon Johnson ed. (2008) with Charles Johnson. Professor Byrd is the coeditor with Beverly Guy-Sheftall of Traps: African American Men on Gender and Sexuality (2001). He is the coeditor of I Am Your Sister: Collected and Unpublished Writings of Audre Lorde (2009). His work-in-progress includes serving as an editor of the forthcoming Norton Anthology of African American Poetry and as coeditor of the forthcoming Norton Edition of Cane, both with Henry Louis Gates Jr. Professor Byrd is also writing a biography of Ernest J. Gaines and a study of the early fiction of Alice Walker. His articles, reviews, and editorials have been widely published. Professor Byrd's several awards and fellowships include the Andrew W. Mellon Fellowship at Harvard University, the Dorothy Danforth Compton Fellowship at Yale University, and Visiting Scholar at Boston University.

An engaged scholar committed to service and scholarship, Professor Byrd is a consultant to the United Negro College Fund/Andrew W. Mellon Programs. He is also a member of the National Advisory Board for the Morehouse College Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Collection. Professor Byrd is the founding cochair of the Alice Walker Literary Society.

Since he arrived at Emory, Byrd has been dedicated to the University and its growth in academic achievement and as a caring community. Through his writing, teaching, mentoring, speaking, community engagement, and generosity of spirit, Professor Rudolph Byrd embodies the essence of the Thomas Jefferson Award and the highest values of university citizenship.

The following awards will be presented during the diploma ceremony at the school of each recipient.

THE EMORY WILLIAMS AWARDS FOR DISTINGUISHED TEACHING

The University's oldest awards for teaching were established in 1972 by alumnus Emory Williams 32C. Awards in the arts and sciences are determined by a committee of Emory College faculty. Goizueta Business School, Oxford College, and Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing each present an award for excellence in undergraduate teaching. One other award rotates among the professional schools.

THE GEORGE P. CUTTINO AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN MENTORING

Established in 1997 by John T. Glover 68C.

Darrell R. Stokes
Professor of Biology and Director of Undergraduate Studies

AUTHORIZATION TO CONFER DEGREES

The conferring of degrees is authorized in formal session by the Board of Trustees of Emory University on the recommendation of the president and the faculties. At today's ceremony, Chair Ben F. Johnson III symbolically will authorize President Wagner to confer degrees upon the 2010 graduates, including the recipients of honorary degrees.

HONORARY DEGREES

ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER
Governor of California
Doctor of Laws, honoris causa

GOVERNOR ARNOLD SCHWARZENEGGER IS SERVING HIS second term as governor of California after being first elected in the state's historic 2003 recall election. Among his accomplishments in his first six years in office is the passage of the nation-leading Global Warming Solutions Act of 2006, a bipartisan agreement to combat global warming by reducing California's greenhouse gas emissions. Schwarzenegger also has worked to make major investments in improving California's aging infrastructure through his Strategic Growth Plan, helping to reduce traffic congestion and improve air quality. He established the Hydrogen Highway and Million Solar Roofs Plan, and under his leadership, California recently passed the Safe, Clean, and Reliable Drinking Water Supply Act of 2010.

The world-famous athlete and actor was born in Austria in 1947 and at age twenty became the youngest person ever to win the Mr. Universe title. He came to America shortly afterward, winning an unprecedented twelve more world bodybuilding titles. He earned a degree from the University of Wisconsin and became a U.S. citizen in 1983. Three years later he married broadcast journalist Maria Shriver.

Schwarzenegger has been an advocate for physical education and after-school programs, and as governor, he has worked to increase funding for such programs. In 1990, former President George H. W. Bush appointed Schwarzenegger chair of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports. He also served as chair of the California Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports under Governor Pete Wilson. Schwarzenegger and his wife have remained closely involved in Special Olympics, an organization founded by Shriver's mother, Eunice Kennedy Shriver. Emory has had a long commitment to the Georgia Special Olympics, which the University has hosted annually on its campus for more than twenty years.

Schwarzenegger's accomplishments have earned him honors from a variety of organizations, including the Simon

Wiesenthal Center's National Leadership Award for his support of the organization's Holocaust studies. Schwarzenegger was the only actor to be in both categories of the American Film Institute's Hundred Years of Heroes and Villains. In 2002, Schwarzenegger received the Muhammad Ali Humanitarian Award. Schwarzenegger currently holds honorary doctorates from the University of Southern California and his alma mater, the University of Wisconsin-Superior, among others.

Mr. Schwarzenegger will be presented by Dean of the School of Law David F. Partlett.

DONALD M. BERWICK
President and CEO, Institute for Healthcare Improvement
Doctor of Science, honoris causa

DONALD M. BERWICK, PRESIDENT AND CEO OF THE INSTITUTE for Healthcare Improvement (IHI), is one of the nation's leading authorities on health care quality and improvement. He is also clinical professor of pediatrics and health care policy at Harvard University Medical School and professor in the Department of Health Policy and Management at Harvard School of Public Health. Berwick has served as vice chair of the U.S. Preventive Services Task Force, the first independent member of the Board of Trustees of the American Hospital Association, and chair of the National Advisory Council of the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality. An elected member of the Institute of Medicine (IOM), Berwick served two terms on the IOM's governing council and was a member of the IOM's Global Health Board. He served on President Bill Clinton's Advisory Commission on Consumer Protection and Quality in the Healthcare Industry.

He is a recipient of numerous awards, including the 1999 Joint Commission's Ernest Amory Codman Award, the 2002 American Hospital Association's Award of Honor, the 2006 John M. Eisenberg Patient Safety and Quality Award for Individual Achievement from the National Quality Forum and the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations, the 2007 William B. Graham Prize for Health Services Research, and the 2007 Heinz Award for Public Policy from the Heinz Family Foundation. In 2005, he was appointed Honorary Knight Commander of the British Empire by Queen Elizabeth II in honor of his work with the British National Health Service. President Barack Obama has asked Berwick to head the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services, subject to Senate confirmation.

A summa cum laude graduate of Harvard University, Berwick has a master's degree in public policy from the John F. Kennedy School of Government and an MD cum laude from Harvard Medical School.

As a global leader in health care, Berwick complements Emory's own accomplishments and steadfast commitment to high-quality global health care. In 2006, Emory University Hospital participated in Berwick's 100,000 Lives Campaign, a nationwide initiative to reduce morbidity and mortality in American health care. He has worked closely with Emory faculty, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and the Task Force for Child Survival and Development.

Dr. Berwick will be presented by Dean of the School of Medicine Thomas J. Lawley.

MELISSA FAY GREENE
Author and Journalist
Doctor of Letters, honoris causa

MELISSA FAY GREENE IS AN AWARD-WINNING AUTHOR OF FOUR books of nonfiction. A two-time National Book Award finalist, she is a frequent contributor to the New York Times Magazine, the New Yorker, the Atlantic, Newsweek, and other periodicals. Greene was a witness to the events described in Praying for Sheetrock (1991), the story of a courthouse gang on the rural coast of Georgia and the black community that tried to dislodge it. A finalist for the National Book Award and the National Book Critics Circle Award, winner of the Robert F. Kennedy Book Award and the Chicago Tribune Heartland Prize, Sheetrock was named to the list of one hundred works of print, radio, television, and photography cited as the best American journalism of the twentieth century and included in Entertainment Weekly's special New Classics edition naming the 100 Best Books of the Last 25 Years.

The Temple Bombing (1996), describes the attack on an Atlanta synagogue during the massive white resistance to desegregation in the 1950s. Also a National Book Award Finalist, it won the Southern Book Critics Circle Award, the Georgia Author of the Year Award, and the ACLU National Civil Liberties Award.

Last Man Out (2002), tells the story of the 1958 Springhill, Nova Scotia, mine disaster, an Afro-Canadian hero, and an unlikely trip to the Georgia coast by the survivors—during which the hero was segregated from the rest of the survivors. It was a New York Times Notable Book and was named one of the best books of the year by half a dozen periodicals.

Her latest book, There Is No Me Without You (Bloomsbury, 2006) is the story of a middle-class Ethiopian widow, who, out of the multiple tragedies in her own life, opens her door to AIDS-orphaned children. It won Elle Magazine's Elle's Lettres Readers Prize for Nonfiction and has been named a Best Book of 2006 by Publishers Weekly, Entertainment Weekly, the Christian Science Monitor, the Chicago Tribune, the Atlanta Journal-Constitution, the Columbus Dispatch, the Anchorage Press, and the Oregonian. It has been optioned by HBO for a miniseries.

A 1975 graduate of Oberlin College, Melissa Fay Greene is a Georgia native and Atlanta resident.

Ms. Greene will be presented by Dean of Emory College of Arts and Sciences Robert A. Paul.

JOSEPH ECHOLS LOWERY
United Methodist Minister and Civil Rights Leader
Doctor of Divinity, honoris causa

BORN IN HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA, ON OCTOBER 6, 1921, THE Reverend Doctor Joseph Echols Lowery has been one of the nation's strongest and most consistent advocates for racial justice, human rights, and world peace. In August 2009, he received the nation's highest civilian award, the Presidential Medal of Freedom from President Barack Obama. On January 20, 2009, he delivered the benediction at the inauguration of President Obama as the forty-fourth president of the United States.

When Ebony Magazine named him one of the nation's fifteen greatest black preachers, they described him as "the consummate voice of biblical social relevancy, a focused prophetic voice, speaking truth to power." In 1997, the NAACP presented him with one of its highest awards and called him the dean of the civil rights movement. Other organizations have honored him for his effective leadership in the movement to empower African Americans as equal shareholders in American life, including the National Conference of Black Mayors; Boston University, with its initial Martin Luther King Jr. Award; Wayne University, with its initial Walter Reuther Humanitarian Award; the Progressive National Baptist Convention; the National Urban League; the United Auto Workers; and the Southern Regional Council.

Lowery's life of advocacy has spanned more than a half century, beginning when he headed the Alabama Civic Affairs Association in Mobile, Alabama, which spearheaded the movement to desegregate buses, other public accommodations, and the hiring of black police officers. In 1957, he joined with Martin Luther King Jr., Ralph David Abernathy, and other Southern ministers to organize the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. He served as vice president until 1967, then chair of the board until February 1977, and as president and CEO until January 15, 1998. In 1965, following the Selma-to-Montgomery march, King named him chair of the committee that took the demands of the march to then-Governor of Alabama George Wallace.

Lowery matriculated at Alabama A&M University, Knoxville College, Paine Theological Seminary, and the Chicago Ecumenical Institute. He has received numerous honorary doctorates.

On his eightieth birthday, the City of Atlanta changed the name of Ashby Street to Joseph E. Lowery Boulevard; Atlanta Public Schools established the Joseph E. Lowery Lecture Series on Civic Engagement; and Clark Atlanta University founded the Joseph E. Lowery Institute for Justice and Human Rights.

Dr. Lowery will be presented by Dean of Candler School of Theology Jan Love.

JAMES D. WOLFENSOHN

*Former President of the World Bank Group
Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa*

JAMES D. WOLFENSOHN IS CHAIR OF WOLFENSOHN & Company, a private investment firm, and an adviser to corporations and governments. Wolfensohn became chair of Citi International Advisory Board on April 18, 2006, and is an adviser to Citi's senior management on global strategy and on international matters. Wolfensohn is also chair of the advisory group of the Wolfensohn Center, a new research initiative focused on global poverty, at the Brookings Institution.

Wolfensohn was the ninth president of the World Bank Group (1995–2005) and was the third president in the bank's history to be reappointed for a second five-year term by the Board of Executive Directors. As president of the World Bank, he traveled to more than one hundred and twenty countries to confront the challenges of poverty and environmental issues.

Prior to joining the World Bank, Wolfensohn was an international investment banker as president and chief executive officer of James D. Wolfensohn Inc., his own investment and corporate advisory firm set up in 1981 to work with major U.S. and international corporations. Before setting up his own company, Wolfensohn held a series of senior positions in finance. He is an honorary trustee of the Brookings Institution and a member of the Council on Foreign Relations and the Century Association in New York.

Throughout his career Wolfensohn has closely involved himself in a wide range of cultural and voluntary activities, especially in the performing arts. In May 1995 he was awarded an honorary knighthood by Queen Elizabeth II for his contribution to the arts.

Born in Australia in December 1933, Wolfensohn is a naturalized U.S. citizen. He has a BA and an LLB from the University of Sydney and an MBA from the Harvard University Graduate School of Business. Wolfensohn served as an officer in the Royal Australian Air Force and was a member of the 1956 Australian Olympic fencing team.

Wolfensohn is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a fellow of the American Philosophical Society. He has been the recipient of many awards for his volunteer work, including the first David Rockefeller Prize of the Museum of Modern Art in New York for his work for culture and the arts.

Mr. Wolfensohn will be presented by Dean of Goizueta Business School Lawrence M. Benveniste.

A COMMENTARY ON COMMENCEMENT

EMORY COLLEGE OF ARTS AND SCIENCES ORIGINATED FROM a concern for higher education in a Christian setting on the part of the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Chartered in 1836 in Oxford, Georgia, the college was named after John Emory (1789–1835), bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1964 the college at Oxford was named Oxford College of Emory University.

Emory College became Emory University by virtue of a charter granted by the Superior Court of DeKalb County on January 25, 1915. Although classes on the Atlanta campus were begun in the schools of law and theology as early as 1916, the college did not move to Atlanta until 1919. The University now includes nine schools, most tracing their origins to years before the chartering of the University itself. These schools are Emory College and Oxford College (1836), the School of Medicine (1854), Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing (1905), Candler School of Theology (1914), the School of Law (1916), Roberto C. Goizueta Business School (1919), the James T. Laney School of Graduate Studies (1919), and Rollins School of Public Health (1990).

The intent of the founders is perpetuated by the University's vision statement: A destination university internationally recognized as an inquiry-driven, ethically engaged, and diverse community, whose members work collaboratively for positive transformation in the world through courageous leadership in teaching, research, scholarship, health care, and social action.

A SHORT HISTORY ON COMMENCEMENT AT EMORY

This is Emory's 165th commencement. The exercises witnessed today represent an imposition of medieval academic tradition on an institution that had its roots in the nineteenth-century frontier. The first Emory commencement was held in 1840, four years after Emory College had been chartered and two years after the college's first classes. That first ceremony, however, was without graduating students, as there were no graduates until the following year. Then, as now, sermons and addresses had a central focus in the exercises, though rarely have these addresses been so crucial as in 1849, when all fifteen members of the graduating class were assigned speaking places and spoke for as long as half an hour each.

Early commencement audiences sat for up to four hours in the midsummer heat to listen to the numerous student and faculty orations on such topics as "Our Government Unfavorable to High Attainment in Literature," "Social Equality," and "Modern Refinements." These addresses in the early days were in English, contrary to the practice at many other institutions. As President A. B. Longstreet argued in 1842, speeches in Latin and Greek were "worthy of the name pedantry, and nothing more." In spite of this advice, several later generations of students instructed their audiences in the ancient tongues.

ACADEMIC DRESS AND CUSTOMS

Academic dress goes back to the founding of European universities, which were the products of the intellectual revival of the twelfth century. All medieval students were clerks and consequently wore the dress of clergy. This is the academic costume we wear today, with certain changes introduced in the sixteenth century by Protestant reformers. The oldest articles of academic wear were the robe, over which was worn the habit, usually a kind of tunic with short, wide sleeves. The medieval hood was lined with fur or inexpensive skins and could be gathered around the neck or pulled up on the head as a turban. There were four kinds of caps: the round cap, reserved for doctoral dignity; the tena, a round cap with strings tied under the chin, worn by jurists; the square cap; and the Tudor bonnet. At Oxford University in 1565 the square cap became the norm, but the faculties that had become laicized adopted the Tudor bonnet. This is still worn by doctors of law, medicine, and music. It is uncertain when different colors became associated with different degrees.

The basic design of all academic costume in the United States was first established in 1895 and was first used at Emory by the Class of 1902. The bachelor's gown is without ornamentation and has long, pointed, open sleeves. The master's gown has longer sleeves, which are closed at the bottom with openings about midway for the hands. The doctor's gown has full-length lapels of velvet and bell-shaped sleeves with three horizontal velvet bars. Tassels for bachelors and masters are black; tassels of gold thread may be worn by doctors. Gowns and caps are usually black, although Emory and some other schools have specified that their doctors may wear gowns of distinctive colors. Yale's deep blue doctoral gown, Harvard's crimson, Columbia's dark blue, and Emory's blue and gold are a few that may be seen in the procession.

The hood varies for the respective degrees, the doctor's hood being longer and fuller than the others. The field of study can be determined from the velvet facing on the hood according to the following color scheme: white, the arts; gold-yellow, science; purple, law; apricot, nursing; green, medicine; scarlet, theology; salmon, public health; and dark blue, doctors of philosophy.

The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the degree-granting institution. For Emory graduates the lining is blue with a chevron of gold.

The president of Emory University wears a badge of office given to the University in 1965 by the Emory chapter, Gamma of Georgia, of Phi Beta Kappa. Designed by Eric Clements of Birmingham, England, and executed by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths in London, the solid gold badge is an open teardrop enclosing the raised seal of the University and is suspended on a gold chain.

A COMMENTARY ON COMMENCEMENT

The chief marshal and fourteen deputy marshals lead the academic procession. The faculty marshals and the secretary of the University jointly manage the forming of the procession, the seating of commencement participants, and the planning of other aspects of commencement exercises. Marshals are identified by their unique blue tunics, which are sleeveless and lined with gold.

The Quadrangle stage with blue canopy was named the University Marshals' Stage in honor of the dedication and service provided by Emory's chief marshals throughout history.

The University mace is carried in the procession by the immediate past president of the Student Government Association. Academically the mace is the symbol of a university as a corporate body of scholars possessing its own jurisdiction and its own legally constituted authority. Traditionally the mace is borne in procession immediately before the chief officer of a university and is placed before him or her during formal academic ceremonies.

The mace of Emory University, a gift from D.V.S., an Emory College senior honor society, was designed by Eric Clements and executed in silver and gold by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths. In the teardrop at the apex of the mace, against a background of oxidized silver, is a freestanding representation in gold of a human skeleton. This is Dooley, the "spirit" of Emory, who traditionally "rises" once each fall and for a week rules campus. Immediately below the skeleton, in an open teardrop, is a gold sphere divided (by stippling) into eight segments. Topping the sphere is a simple cross, symbolizing the relationship of Emory University to the Methodist church. The seal of the University is sculptured in gold within the circular base.

Before each school in the procession, the school's student marshal carries its gonfalon, a banner in the color associated with the respective school's degree: medicine, green; public health, salmon; nursing, apricot; theology, scarlet; law, purple; and business, khaki. The gonfalon of the graduate school is gold representing the Emory's gold, and the gonfalons of Emory College and Oxford College represent Emory's blue.

EMORY ALUMNI LEGACY MEDALLION

Graduating students who have a parent, grandparent, and/or sibling who is also an Emory graduate are wearing specially commissioned medallions hanging from blue and gold ribbons. The medallions are expressions of the University's gratitude to those families who have chosen to continue the Emory education tradition throughout the generations.

THE COMMENCEMENT SETTING

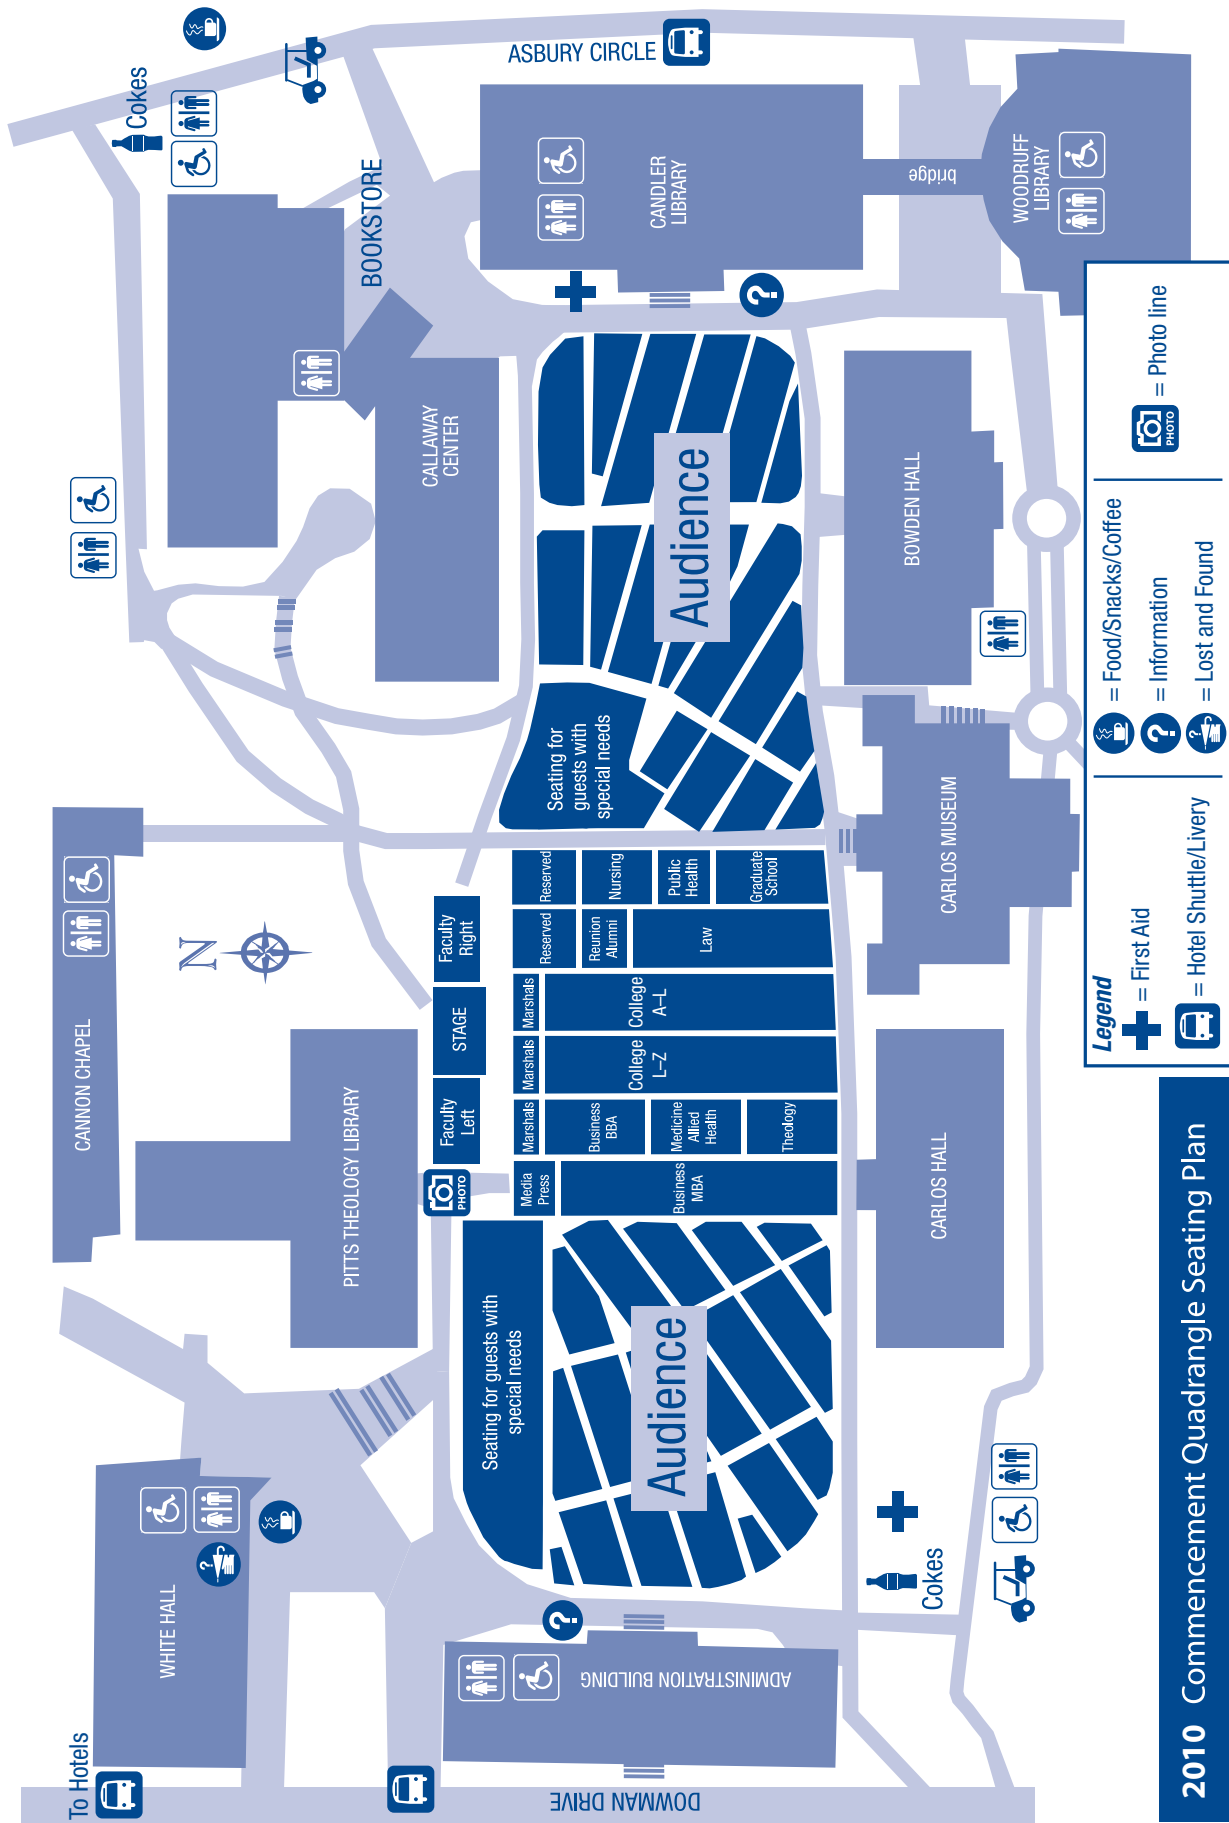

Spectators on the Quadrangle are seated facing Pitts Theology Library, one of the two oldest buildings on the Atlanta campus. Designed by the distinguished Pittsburgh architect Henry Hornbostel (1867–1961), Pitts Theology Library was the original theology building in 1916. It was renovated in 1975 by architect Paul Rudolph to house the expanded library collection of Candler School of Theology.

Directly behind the spectators are Carlos Hall, the other original campus building, and the expanded Michael C. Carlos Museum. Formerly home to the School of Law, Carlos Hall was renovated in 1986 according to a design by Michael Graves to house the museum and the Department of Art History. The museum is named for the philanthropist who donated most of the cost of the facility. It was designed to maintain the classic symmetry and proportion of the surrounding buildings, which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Bowden Hall, east of the museum, was constructed in 1951 in the same style as the original campus buildings. Originally the History Building, it was renamed in 1991 in honor of the late Henry L. Bowden, former chair of the Board of Trustees of Emory University. To the southeast of Bowden Hall is the Center for Library and Information Resources. The center joins the tall, red-tile-crowned Robert W. Woodruff Library and is linked to the Asa Griggs Candler Memorial Library at the east end of the Quadrangle. Candler Library was dedicated in 1926 in honor of the man who donated the land for the campus and who provided the University with strong leadership in its early years.

Next to Pitts Library is the Loula Walker and Ely Reeves Callaway Sr. Memorial Center. Thanks to a generous gift from alumnus Ely R. Callaway Jr. in honor of his parents, this center joins the former Humanities Building with the original Physics Building, which was constructed in 1919.

At the west end of the Quadrangle is the Administration Building (1955), a gift of Charles Howard Candler. Like his father, Asa, Charles chaired the Board of Trustees for many years. Between the Administration Building and Pitts Library sits the more modern White Hall, the main classroom building of Emory College. Above the trees of the north side of the Quadrangle are the curved red roof of the William R. Cannon Chapel—designed by Paul Rudolph and dedicated in 1981—and the towers of Emory University Hospital to the east.
