THE ONE HUNDRED SIXTY-SIXTH COMMENCEMENT
THE NINTH OF MAY
TWO THOUSAND ELEVEN

The Alma Mater

IN THE HEART OF DEAR OLD EMORY
WHERE THE SUN DOTH SHINE,
THAT IS WHERE OUR HEARTS ARE TURNING
'ROUND OLD EMORY'S SHRINE.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

THO' THE YEARS AROUND US GATHER,
CROWNED WITH LOVE AND CHEER,
STILL THE MEMORY OF OLD EMORY
GROWS TO US MORE DEAR.

WE WILL EVER SING THY PRAISES,
SONS AND DAUGHTERS TRUE.
HAIL WE NOW OUR ALMA MATER,
HAIL THE GOLD AND BLUE!

Presentation of the Marion Luther Brittain Service Award

This award, symbolic of all honors bestowed on students by the University, is an expression of gratitude for service performed without expectation of reward or recognition. The award was established at Emory in 1942 through a bequest from a distinguished Emory alumnus, former President Brittain of the Georgia Institute of Technology.

Silas W. Allard 11L 11T

SILAS W. ALLARD, A ROBERT W. WOODRUFF SCHOLAR IN both Candler School of Theology and the School of Law, is the 2011 Brittain Award winner. Allard is a candidate for a master of theological studies and a juris doctor.

Committed to social justice and international human rights advocacy and policy, Allard served as the conference cochair for the sixtieth anniversary of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. Through this conference, he led University efforts in celebrating the progress made by the global community in ensuring that every individual's rights are fully recognized and respected. Allard has developed a particular interest in refugee rights and issues of displacement and resettlement, and interned with the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees in Geneva, Switzerland.

Allard was awarded the School of Law's Outstanding Commitment to Public Service Award for his work with Emory's Public Interest Committee, an organization that provides active support for students who wish to pursue careers in the public interest. He also serves as the editor of the Emory International Law Review.

In 2009, Allard was named a 100 Community Builder through the We Are Emory Campaign.

Allard received his bachelor of arts in religious studies with a minor in German from the University of Missouri.

Presentation of the University Scholar/Teacher Award

Chosen by the University president from nominations by the deans on behalf of the United Methodist Church Board of Higher Education and Ministry.

David Gilbert Lynn
Asa Griggs Candler Professor of Chemistry and Biology

PROFESSOR LYNN IS A SCHOLAR, A TEACHER, A CURRICULAR innovator, and a campus leader. He earned a BA from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in chemistry and a PhD from Duke University in organic/biological chemistry. His research focuses on the origins and evolution of life and involves interdisciplinary work through collaborations with colleagues in the Department of Physics and the School of Medicine, among others. Professor Lynn has also worked with Emory's Neurodegenerative Disease Center to study Alzheimer's disease.

As one of twenty inaugural Hughes Professors selected in 2002 to receive the Howard Hughes Medical Institute (HHMI) award, Lynn received one million dollars to translate his passion for science to the undergraduate classroom. This award enabled Professor Lynn to create an innovative and successful freshman seminar program called On Recent Discoveries by Emory Researchers (ORDER). ORDER engages freshmen together with graduate students to examine the scientific method from diverse perspectives and with a broad range of research questions.

Lynn is recognized for his contributions to the field of chemical biology, particularly in plant chemical biology, dynamic molecular self-assembly, chemical evolution, and chemical education. His publications include more than 150 publications in areas of physical organic chemistry, synthetic chemistry, biophysical chemistry, microbiology, plant biology, molecular biology, lateral gene transfer, and pathogenesis.

In 2006 he was appointed chair of the Department of Chemistry and in 2010 a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Professor Lynn has also pioneered collaboration between the natural sciences and the performing arts, through his contributions to the 2009 Evolution Revolution Symposium and his ongoing work with the Emory College Center for Creativity and Arts to bring a better understanding of science to the public through art.

Presentation of the Thomas Jefferson Award

Awarded each year to a faculty member or administrative officer for significant service to the University through personal activities, influence, and leadership.

Dennis C. Liotta
Samuel Dobbs Candler Professor of Chemistry

AS A SCHOLAR, TEACHER, MENTOR, RESEARCHER, AND ADVOCATE, Dennis Liotta has served in many leadership capacities while at Emory and has made remarkable scientific and educational accomplishments. Educated at Queens College (BA) and the University of New York (PhD), he is committed to resolving complex global issues and fostering Emory as a university that is forward thinking, ethically engaged, and working collaboratively for positive transformation in the world.

Professor Liotta is a pioneer of ground-breaking drug therapies. His research has focused on the discovery and development of pharmaceuticals, and he led the Emory team that developed the breakthrough antiviral drug approved for the treatment of HIV in 2003, FTC (Emtriva). He helped found the company iThemba (translated as “hope”) Pharmaceuticals in South Africa and currently serves as chair of its scientific advisory board. The goal of the organization is to develop medicines and therapies that are accessible and meet the health care needs of sub-Saharan Africans. Liotta launched this project focused on the treatment of infectious diseases such as tuberculosis, malaria, and HIV/AIDS, in South Africa.

During the course of his career at Emory, Professor Liotta has authored more than two hundred research publications, holds more than sixty patents, and has lectured at more than two hundred events. His work with students has earned him the Emory Williams Distinguished Teaching Award in the Natural Sciences and the Emory University Distinguished Faculty Lecturer Award. He is the recipient of many prestigious fellowships and awards, including the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation, the Camille and Henry Dreyfus Foundation, and the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation. He is a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Chemical Society, and the International Society for Antiviral Research. In 2010, he was inducted into the American Chemical Society Medicinal Chemistry Hall of Fame.

The Emory Williams Awards for Distinguished Teaching

Authorization to Confer Degrees

The conferring of degrees is authorized in formal session by the Board of Trustees of Emory University on the recommendation of the president and the faculties. At today's ceremony, Chair Ben F. Johnson III symbolically will authorize President Wagner to confer degrees upon the graduates, including the recipients of honorary degrees.

Honorary Degrees

WILLIAM R. BEARDSLEE

*Gardner-Monks Professor of Child Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School
Physician, Researcher, Mental Health Advocate
Doctor of Science, honoris causa*

WILLIAM R. BEARDSLEE IS DIRECTOR OF THE BAER PREVENTION Initiatives, chairman emeritus of the Department of Psychiatry at Children's Hospital in Boston, and Gardner-Monks Professor of Child Psychiatry at Harvard Medical School.

He received a BA from Haverford College and an MD from Case Western Reserve University. He trained in general psychiatry at Massachusetts General Hospital and in child psychiatry and psychiatric research at Children's Hospital. His research focus is on the protective effects of self-understanding in enabling youngsters and adults to cope with adversity, and he has studied self-understanding in civil rights workers, survivors of cancer, and children of parents with affective disorders.

Beardslee has directed the Preventive Intervention Project, a ten-year study of response to public health preventive interventions for families facing depression. He has received numerous awards including the Agnes Purcell McGavin Award for Prevention of Mental Disorder in Children from the American Psychiatric Association and the Human Rights Award from the Massachusetts Department of Mental Health.

Beardslee serves on the Carter Center Task Force on Mental Health and the board of Mental Health America. He is the author of more than 175 articles and chapters and two books: The Way Out Must Lead In: Life Histories in the Civil Rights Movement, a story of what enables civil rights workers to endure; and Out of the Darkened Room: Protecting the Children and Strengthening the Family When a Parent Is Depressed, a book about how parents and caregivers can help families overcome depression. He has collaborated with Emory faculty in his research, and his father, William A. Beardslee, was a longtime religion professor at Emory.

Dr. Beardslee will be presented by Dean of the School of Medicine Thomas J. Lawley.

MARTHA NUSSBAUM

*Ernst Freund Distinguished Service Professor of Law and Ethics, University of Chicago
Scholar, Teacher, Philosopher
Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa*

MARTHA NUSSBAUM IS A CONTEMPORARY PHILOSOPHER AND public scholar who gained renown with her first major book, The Fragility of Goodness: Luck and Ethics in Greek Tragedy and Philosophy, which addresses questions about the meaning and vulnerability of life and luck. She also has contributed important scholarship in the areas of feminism, international policy, global justice, animal rights, and the humanities. Her other books include Cultivating Humanity: A Classic Defense of Reform in Liberal Education; Liberty of Conscience: In Defense of America's Tradition of Religious Equality; Hiding from Humanity: Disgust, Shame, and the Law; and From Disgust to Humanity: Sexual Orientation and Constitutional Law.

Nussbaum received a BA from New York University and an MA and PhD from Harvard University. She has taught at Harvard, Brown, and Oxford Universities. From 1986 to 1993, Nussbaum was a research adviser at the World Institute for Development Economics Research, Helsinki, a part of the United Nations University. She has chaired the Committee on International Cooperation and the Committee on the Status of Women of the American Philosophical Association, and currently chairs its new Committee for Public Philosophy. She has been a member of the Association's National Board. In 1999–2000 she was one of the three presidents of the association, delivering the presidential address in the Central Division. She received the Grawemeyer Award in Education in 2002, the Barnard College Medal of Distinction in 2003, the Radcliffe Alumnae Recognition Award in 2007, and the Centennial Medal of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at Harvard University in 2010.

Dr. Nussbaum will be presented by Dean of the James T. Laney School of Graduate Studies Lisa A. Tedesco.

GEORGE TRAKAS

*Landscape Artist
Sculptor, Environmentalist, Redeemer of Places through Art
Doctor of Humane Letters, honoris causa*

GEORGE TRAKAS IS AN INTERNATIONALLY RECOGNIZED sculptor and environmental artist. A native of Quebec, Canada, Trakas is among the leading artists of his generation working in the landscape. After beginning his studies at Sir George Williams University Montreal, he moved to New York City, where he studied and received a bachelor of science degree from New York University.

Recognized as a major figure in the environmental art movement, Trakas prefers to work with communities and in the public realm; his installations and interventions in towns and cities, parks and waterfronts, have served during many years to bring to life and draw attention to the beauty of natural sites that were endangered or blighted.

Trakas has explored two constant themes in his art: water and paths; his installations typically incorporate a functional response to a particular site or environment. His work reflects a respect for materials, nature, the existing properties of the site, the traditions of the community, and the needs of the individual user of the site. Recent major works include Beacon Point along the Hudson River in Beacon, New York; Quai des Trois Dents in Parc du Pilat in Loire, France; and Waterfront Nature Walk in Brooklyn, New York.

In much of his work, Trakas recycles local materials and incorporates them into the finished site, providing a strong sense of the character of the original place. Source Route is the Emory work that Trakas created in 1979, in the Woolford B. Baker Woodland behind the Michael C. Carlos Museum, on the occasion of the symposium commemorating the fiftieth anniversary of the Phi Beta Kappa chapter at the University. He called it Source Route because he saw it as a place where things began. Often, as in the case of Source Route, his sculptures have led to an increased awareness of the value of connections between the natural and the built environment. Trakas spent a week on the Emory campus in April this year to revisit this work with students and faculty.

Mr. Trakas will be presented by Dean of Emory College of Arts and Sciences Robin Forman.

JANET NAPOLITANO

*United States Secretary of Homeland Security
Public Servant, Lawyer, Leader
Doctor of Laws, honoris causa*

JANET NAPOLITANO IS THE THIRD SECRETARY OF THE Department of Homeland Security and is leading efforts to counter the threat of terrorism and respond to natural disasters. To secure the United States against terrorism, Napolitano has forged new partnerships with international allies and expanded information sharing with federal, state, and local law enforcement. She has also initiated a more strategic course to strengthen security along the southwest border and combat violent international drug cartels. To prepare for, respond to, and recover from natural disasters, Napolitano has led the department in providing new resources to build resilient communities and bolster their response capabilities.

In each of these areas Napolitano is using new science and technology, reinvigorating partnerships with state and local governments and the private sector, and implementing an efficiency review to better equip the Department of Homeland Security. Prior to becoming secretary, Napolitano was in her second term as governor of Arizona. She was the first woman to chair the National Governors Association and was named one of the top five governors in the country by Time magazine. Napolitano also was the first female attorney general of Arizona and served as US attorney for the District of Arizona.

Born in New York City, Napolitano grew up in Pittsburgh and Albuquerque. She is a graduate of Santa Clara University, where she won a Truman Scholarship and was the university's first female valedictorian. She received a juris doctor degree from the University of Virginia School of Law.

Secretary Napolitano will be presented by Dean of the School of Law David F. Partlett.

Emory College of Arts and Sciences originated from a concern for higher education in a Christian setting on the part of the Georgia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Chartered in 1836 in Oxford, Georgia, the college was named after John Emory (1789–1835), bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1964 the college at Oxford was named Oxford College of Emory University.

Emory College became Emory University by virtue of a charter granted by the Superior Court of DeKalb County on January 25, 1915. Although classes on the Atlanta campus were begun in the schools of law and theology as early as 1916, the college did not move to Atlanta until 1919. The University now includes nine schools, most tracing their origins to years before the chartering of the University itself. These schools are Emory College and Oxford College (1836), the School of Medicine (1854), Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing (1905), Candler School of Theology (1914), the School of Law (1916), Roberto C. Goizueta Business School (1919), the James T. Laney School of Graduate Studies (1919), and Rollins School of Public Health (1990).

The intent of the founders is perpetuated by the University's vision statement: A destination university internationally recognized as an inquiry-driven, ethically engaged, and diverse community, whose members work collaboratively for positive transformation in the world through courageous leadership in teaching, research, scholarship, health care, and social action.

A Short History on Commencement at Emory

This is Emory's 166th commencement. The exercises witnessed today represent an imposition of medieval academic tradition on an institution that had its roots in the nineteenth-century frontier. The first Emory commencement was held in 1840, four years after Emory College had been chartered and two years after the college's first classes. That first ceremony, however, was without graduating students, as there were no graduates until the following year. Then, as now, sermons and addresses had a central focus in the exercises, though rarely have these addresses been so crucial as in 1849, when all fifteen members of the graduating class were assigned speaking places and spoke for as long as half an hour each.

Early commencement audiences sat for up to four hours in the midsummer heat to listen to the numerous student and faculty orations on such topics as "Our Government Unfavorable to High Attainment in Literature," "Social Equality," and "Modern Refinements." These addresses in the early days were in English, contrary to the practice at many other institutions. As President A. B. Longstreet argued in 1842, speeches in Latin and Greek were "worthy of the name pedantry, and nothing more." In spite of this advice, several later generations of students instructed their audiences in the ancient tongues.

Academic Dress and Customs

Academic dress goes back to the founding of European universities, which were the products of the intellectual revival of the twelfth century. All medieval students were clerks and consequently wore the dress of clergy. This is the academic costume we wear today, with certain changes introduced in the sixteenth century by Protestant reformers. The oldest articles of academic wear were the robe, over which was worn the habit, usually a kind of tunic with short, wide sleeves. The medieval hood was lined with fur or inexpensive skins and could be gathered around the neck or pulled up on the head as a turban. There were four kinds of caps: the round cap, reserved for doctoral dignity; the tena, a round cap with strings tied under the chin, worn by jurists; the square cap; and the Tudor bonnet. At Oxford University in 1565 the square cap became the norm, but the faculties that had become laicized adopted the Tudor bonnet. This is still worn by doctors of law, medicine, and music. It is uncertain when different colors became associated with different degrees.

The basic design of all academic costume in the United States was first established in 1895 and was first used at Emory by the Class of 1902. The bachelor's gown is without ornamentation and has long, pointed, open sleeves. The master's gown has longer sleeves, which are closed at the bottom with openings about midway for the hands. The doctor's gown has full-length lapels of velvet and bell-shaped sleeves with three horizontal velvet bars. Tassels for bachelors and masters are black; tassels of gold thread may be worn by doctors. Gowns and caps are usually black, although Emory and some other schools have specified that their doctors may wear gowns of distinctive colors. Yale's deep blue doctoral gown, Harvard's crimson, Columbia's dark blue, and Emory's blue and gold are a few that may be seen in the procession.

The hood varies for the respective degrees, the doctor's hood being longer and fuller than the others. The field of study can be determined from the velvet facing on the hood according to the following color scheme: white, the arts; gold-yellow, science; purple, law; apricot, nursing; green, medicine; scarlet, theology; salmon, public health; and dark blue, doctors of philosophy.

The hood is lined with silk in the colors of the degree-granting institution. For Emory graduates the lining is blue with a chevron of gold.

The president of Emory University wears a badge of office given to the University in 1965 by the Emory chapter, Gamma of Georgia, of Phi Beta Kappa. Designed by Eric Clements of Birmingham, England, and executed by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths in London, the solid gold badge is an open teardrop enclosing the raised seal of the University and is suspended on a gold chain.

The chief marshal and fourteen deputy marshals lead the academic procession. The faculty marshals and the secretary of the University jointly manage the forming of the procession, the seating of commencement participants, and the planning of other aspects of commencement exercises. Marshals are identified by their unique blue tunics, which are sleeveless and lined with gold.

The Quadrangle stage with blue canopy was named the University Marshals' Stage in honor of the dedication and service provided by Emory's chief marshals throughout history.

The University mace is carried in the procession by the immediate past president of the Student Government Association. Academically the mace is the symbol of a university as a corporate body of scholars possessing its own jurisdiction and its own legally constituted authority. Traditionally the mace is borne in procession immediately before the chief officer of a university and is placed before him or her during formal academic ceremonies.

The mace of Emory University, a gift from D.V.S., an Emory College senior honor society, was designed by Eric Clements and executed in silver and gold by the Worshipful Company of Goldsmiths. In the teardrop at the apex of the mace, against a background of oxidized silver, is a freestanding representation in gold of a human skeleton. This is Dooley, the "spirit" of Emory, who traditionally "rises" once each fall and for a week rules campus. Immediately below the skeleton, in an open teardrop, is a gold sphere divided (by stippling) into eight segments. Topping the sphere is a simple cross, symbolizing the relationship of Emory University to the Methodist church. The seal of the University is sculptured in gold within the circular base.

Before each school in the procession, the school's student marshal carries its gonfalon, a banner in the color associated with the respective school's degree: medicine, green; public health, salmon; nursing, apricot; theology, scarlet; law, purple; and business, khaki. The gonfalon of the graduate school is gold representing the Emory's gold, and the gonfalons of Emory College and Oxford College represent Emory's blue.

Emory Alumni Legacy Medallion

---

Graduating students who have a parent, grandparent, and/or sibling who is also an Emory graduate are wearing specially commissioned medallions hanging from blue and gold ribbons. The medallions are expressions of the University's gratitude to those families who have chosen to continue the Emory education tradition throughout the generations.

The Commencement Setting

Spectators on the Quadrangle are seated facing Pitts Theology Library, one of the two oldest buildings on the Atlanta campus. Designed by the distinguished Pittsburgh architect Henry Hornbostel (1867–1961), Pitts Theology Library was the original theology building in 1916. It was renovated in 1975 by architect Paul Rudolph to house the expanded library collection of Candler School of Theology.

Directly behind the spectators are Carlos Hall, the other original campus building, and the expanded Michael C. Carlos Museum. Formerly home to the School of Law, Carlos Hall was renovated in 1986 according to a design by Michael Graves to house the museum and the Department of Art History. The museum is named for the philanthropist who donated most of the cost of the facility. It was designed to maintain the classic symmetry and proportion of the surrounding buildings, which are listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

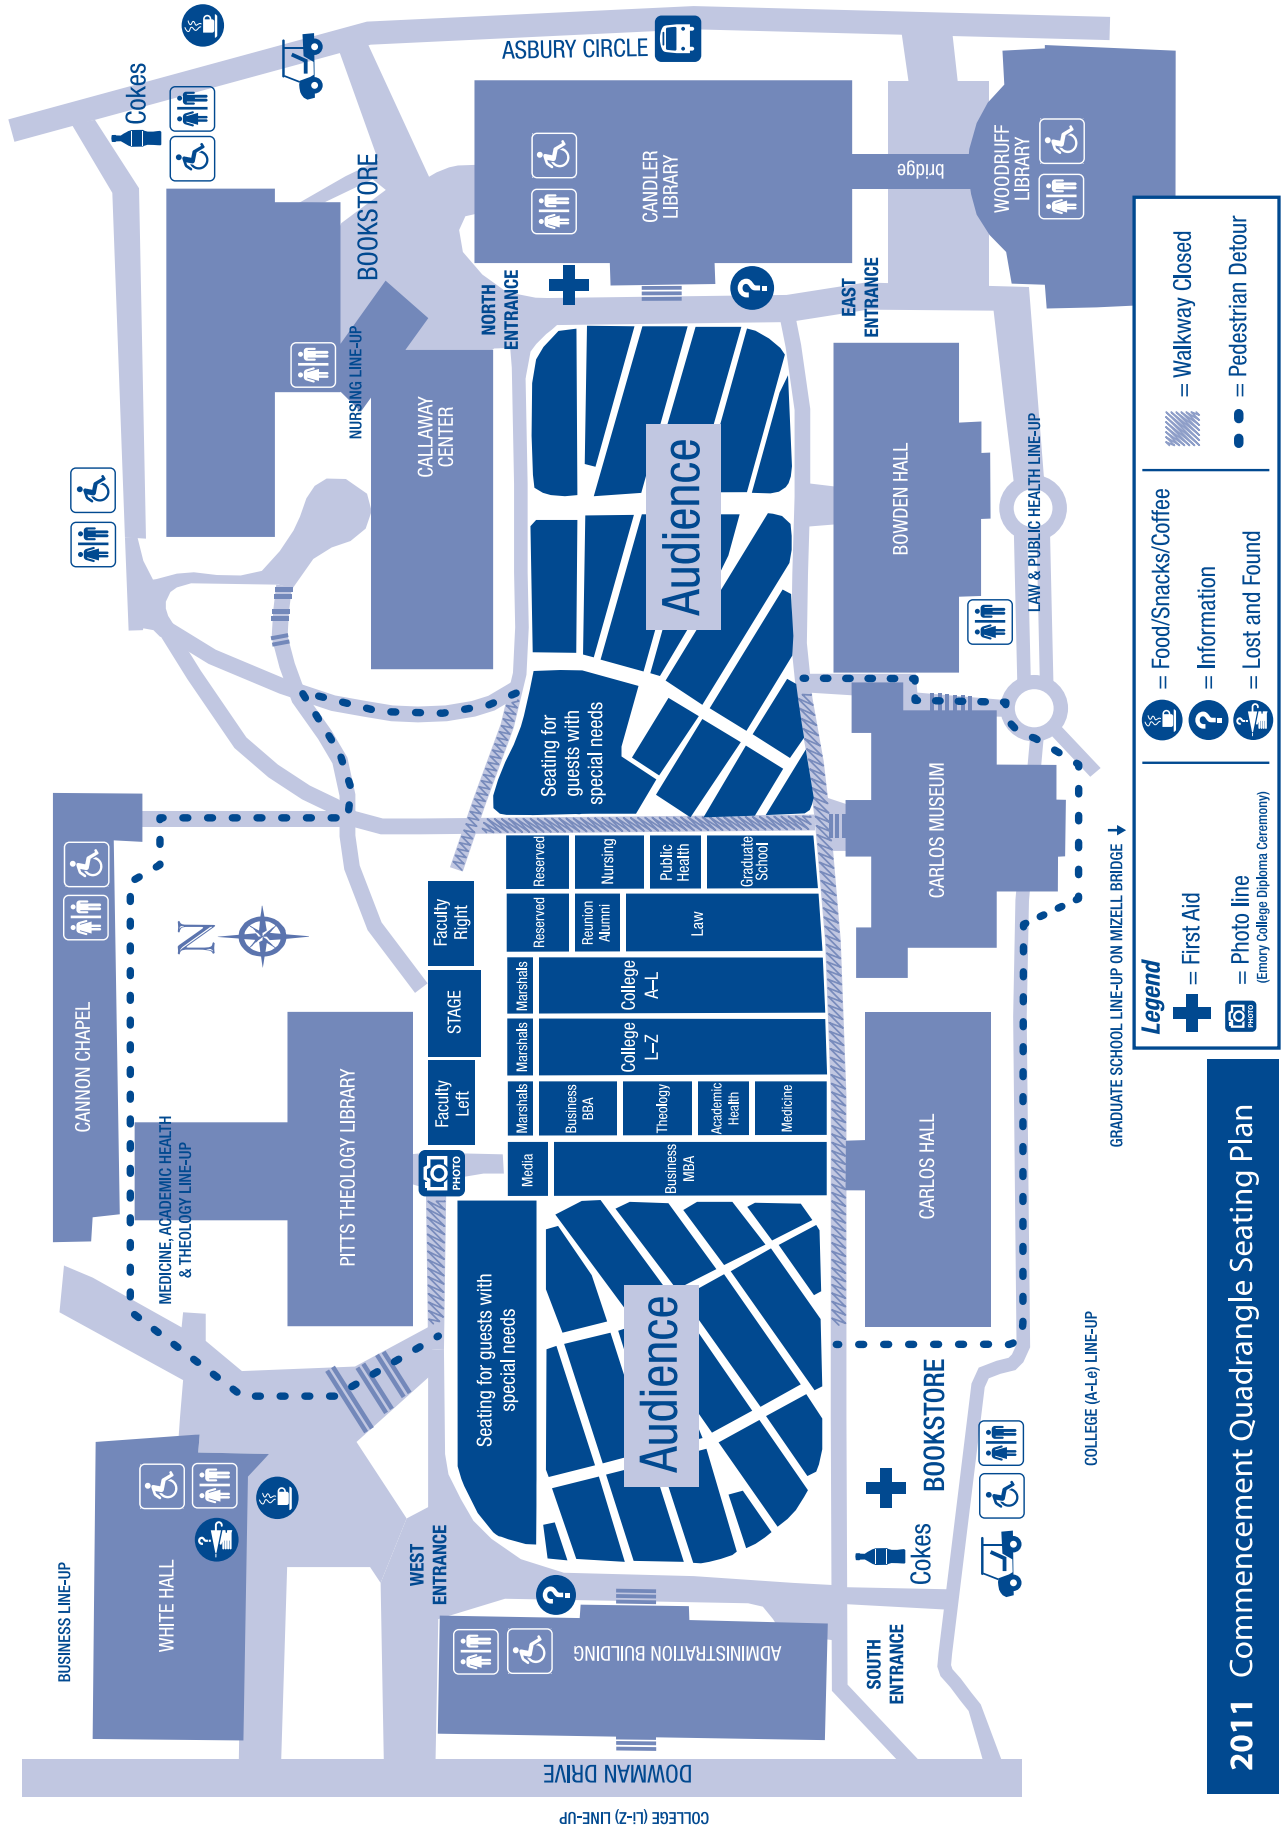

Bowden Hall, east of the museum, was constructed in 1951 in the same style as the original campus buildings. Originally the History Building, it was renamed in 1991 in honor of the late Henry L. Bowden, former chair of the Board of Trustees of Emory University. To the southeast of Bowden Hall is the Center for Library and Information Resources. The center joins the tall, red-tile-crowned Robert W. Woodruff Library and is linked to the Asa Griggs Candler Memorial Library at the east end of the Quadrangle. Candler Library was dedicated in 1926 in honor of the man who donated the land for the campus and who provided the University with strong leadership in its early years.

Next to Pitts Library is the Loula Walker and Ely Reeves Callaway Sr. Memorial Center. Thanks to a generous gift from alumnus Ely R. Callaway Jr. in honor of his parents, this center joins the former Humanities Building with the original Physics Building, which was constructed in 1919.

At the west end of the Quadrangle is the Administration Building (1955), a gift of Charles Howard Candler. Like his father, Asa, Charles chaired the Board of Trustees for many years. Between the Administration Building and Pitts Library sits the more modern White Hall, the main classroom building of Emory College. Above the trees of the north side of the Quadrangle are the curved red roof of the William R. Cannon Chapel—designed by Paul Rudolph and dedicated in 1981—and the towers of Emory University Hospital to the east.

It was just another Saturday, December 10, 1836: Texas adopted a flag; a Trappist brewery opened in Belgium; Ralph Waldo Emerson paid off a debt. And Methodists in Georgia received a charter for a college. Launching an educational enterprise ranks as a pretty good day's work. Nearly 175 years on, the aspirations of Emory's founders have brought astonishing transformations. During 2011, Emory's 175th anniversary year, we celebrate this legacy and its impact.
