Tips For Coping with Financial Stress

Try to:
- Limit exposure to media
- Look for healthy ways to express frustration
- Eat healthy and exercise regularly
- Practice relaxation and meditation
- Surround yourself with positive people

Try not to:
- Procrastinate addressing financial issues
- Isolate and avoid face to face contacts
- Deprive yourself of relaxation and play
- Allow yourself to be preoccupied with negativity
- Become sleep deprived
Procurement Shares Ways to... Spend Less

Browse Emory’s “Buying in the Marketplace” website and take advantage of the great number of resources for your purchasing and payment needs. Utilize the special promotions offered by Emory contract suppliers and at the same time learn how to buy in-demand goods and services while receiving the best quality and best pricing.

- Always purchase from Emory’s 140-plus preferred contract suppliers.
- Only order from non-contract suppliers when a product is not available from one of Emory’s contract suppliers.
- Always communicate with Emory’s procurement buyers before making any commitment to purchase. They are aware of the best deals available on a daily basis.
- Always use Emory’s specific commodity contract suppliers for the particular product you are looking for. For example:

  Office supplies, order from our contract supplier:
  - Place office supply orders with Staples once a week or less (you benefit by saving on shipping).
  - Consolidated orders receive a volume discount. An order of $225 or more gives you a $5.00 credit.

  Scientific supplies, order from our contract suppliers:
  - Consolidated orders receive a 2% discount on volume purchase orders of $500 or more from Fisher Scientific.
  - When purchasing for a new lab, use the discounts offered from the Marketplace link titled “Lab/Research Goods & Services.”

  Remanufactured toner cartridges, order from our contract supplier Southern Cross Systems.

  Computer hardware, order from our contract suppliers:
  - For computer hardware - Dell
  - For Lenovo computer hardware - CDW-G
  - For Apple computer hardware - Use Emory Express to access the Apple Store.

Turning Trash Into Treasure

Emory’s Office of Sustainability Initiatives in conjunction with Emory Recycles and Emory Surplus have recently initiated a number of programs geared toward making the Emory more sustainable while saving its employees and students money.

We’ve all heard of the three Rs—Reduce, Reuse, Recycle. One of the best ways to reduce waste is to reuse goods from Emory Surplus. The Emory Card is now an accepted form of payment at Emory’s Surplus Properties (on Briarcliff Road). Surplus Properties collects used Emory property including furniture, computers, vehicles and office equipment and offers it for sale to students, faculty and staff.

Through re-sale efforts of Emory property, Surplus Properties extends the life of furniture and electronics and decreases the Emory’s landfill waste. By accepting the Emory Card, Surplus Properties hopes to make it easier for students to purchase items and keep these items out of Georgia landfills.

Emory Surplus has a great collection of desks, chairs, couches and other equipment perfect for the office, residence hall or home. To view items for sale, visit https://www.fm.emory.edu/surplus/index.htm.

This year as you spring clean, make sure your furniture, clothes and electronics don’t end up in the local landfill. Emory Recycles and Surplus Property are teaming up to offer a “Don’t Dump It, Donate It!” program. This collection drive is scheduled to take place from April until May and is coordinated with a local Atlanta shelter. During the collection event, boxes will be placed in residence halls where employees and students can donate their gently-used items.
