Emory's primary objective in awarding need-based financial aid is to assist as many students as possible, taking into account possible sources of funding from the student, the custodial parent and the noncustodial parent. In some cases Emory will grant a waiver of the Noncustodial Parent statement and taxes. Instances when waivers are granted are in situations where abuse, a restraining order, incarceration or total disability, etc. exists. If you believe that you have other exceptional circumstances that warrant consideration of a waiver, you should explain them by completing this form.

Please complete all the questions, leaving no blanks. Answer with "unknown" if appropriate. Attach all requested documentation. Completion of the Noncustodial Parent Waiver Petition does not automatically ensure that noncustodial information will be waived. Each situation is reviewed individually and the most equitable decision possible is made with the information provided. Be aware that exceptions to our policy are never made solely on the basis of a parent's unwillingness to provide support.
