

DARBY PROCTOR

Curriculum Vitae

Georgia State University
Department of Psychology &
Language Research Center
P.O. Box 5010
Atlanta, GA 30302-5010 USA

Email: darby.proctor@gmail.com

Telephone: (404) 434-0693

<http://www2.gsu.edu/~wwwcbs/proctor.html>

Education

- 2008 – current Ph.D. student in Psychology – Cognitive Sciences
Georgia State University, Atlanta, GA
- 2007 M.A. Biological Anthropology
Georgia State University, Atlanta, GA
- 2003 M.S. in Business Management
Warrington College of Business
University of Florida, Gainesville, FL
- 2002 B.A. Biological Anthropology
University of Florida, Gainesville, FL

Awards & Honors

- 2001 Gator Roundtable for Leadership, Invited Participant, University of Florida
- 2001 Gator Sports Club Leadership Award Recipient, University of Florida

Publications & Presentations

Horner, V., Proctor, D., Bonnie, K., Whiten, A., & de Waal, F. (2008, August). Chimpanzee trendsetters: Does performer status affect the probability of cultural transmission? International Primatological Society Congress XXII, Edinburgh, Scotland.

Campbell, M., Carter, J. D., Proctor, D. & de Waal, F. (2008, August). Do chimpanzees yawn contagiously in response to 3D computer animations? International Primatological Society Congress XXII, Edinburgh, Scotland.

Proctor, D. (2007). Taxon, Site & Temporal Differentiation Using Dental Microwear in the Southern African Papionins. Master's thesis, Georgia State University, Atlanta, GA.

Proctor, D. (2007, February). Read my Lips. From The Last Great Ape NOVA website. www.pbs.org/wgbh/nova/bonobos/read.html.

Proctor, D. & Hudson, K. (2006, March). Will the real Parapapio please stand up: Species differentiation in Parapapio using dental microwear. Georgia Academy of Sciences annual meeting, Lawrenceville, Georgia.

Williams, F., Clymer, G. & Proctor, D. (2006, March). Is Papio robinsoni or Papio angusticeps a better dietary ancestor for Papio ursinus? American Association of Physical Anthropologists annual meeting, Anchorage, Alaska.

Teaching Experience

2008 Guest Lecture, Animal Behavior, Georgia State University
2006 Teaching Practicum, Georgia State University
2006 Instructor, Introduction to Anthropology, Georgia State University
2005-2006 Graduate Teaching Associate, Weather & Climate, Georgia State University

Research Positions

2008 - current Ph.D. Student & Graduate Research Assistant
Language Research Center, Georgia State University
Adviser: Dr. Sarah Brosnan
2006 – current Affiliate Student/Chimpanzee Research Specialist
Living Links Center, Yerkes N.P.R.C., Emory University
Supervisor: Dr. Frans B.M. deWaal
2008 Baboon Research Unit Field Assistant
University of Capetown, South Africa
Supervisor: Dr. Justin O’Riain
2006 Golden Lion Tamarin Research Intern
Zoo Atlanta, Atlanta, GA
2005-2006 Biological Anthropology & Dental Microwear Laboratory Manager
Georgia State University
Supervisor: Dr. Frank Williams

Professional Service

2008 - current Graduate Student Council, Member & Webmaster, Georgia State University
2006-2007 Graduate Student Council, Founder & President, Georgia State University