

EMORY
UNIVERSITY

visitor's GUIDE

2008

www.emory.edu

WELCOME TO EMORY UNIVERSITY!

Whether you have come to pay a short visit to the Emory campus or its hospitals and clinics, or are planning a long relationship with Emory, you have landed at a destination for renowned teachers, superb students, path-breaking researchers, and dedicated, competent staff.

Emory University strives to help its community members fulfill their highest aspirations. Our vision is to discover truth, share it, and ignite in others a passion for its pursuit. Through this guide, you can learn about the people, activities, and programs that make up Emory's vibrant intellectual community. Emory remains more than the sum of its parts—a strong intellectual community that seeks excellence, not merely to compete with other institutions but to contribute to shaping a better world.

It's a very exciting time to be at Emory. The Emory Strategic Plan provides a map to guide our growth and development during the next decade, focusing on five key themes. Our updated Campus Master Plan outlines a bold proposal for reshaping Emory's presence in Atlanta. Critical to that presence are programs in the arts, University-community partnerships, and the global reach of our initiatives through such Emory entities as The Carter Center.

Also important to Emory's identity and work for positive transformation in the world is the Woodruff Health Sciences Center, the home of not only our schools in health sciences but also Emory Healthcare, the largest health-care system in the state of Georgia.

This publication will help you explore our campus and community. We hope you enjoy your visit.

James W. Wagner
PRESIDENT

TABLE OF CONTENTS A Guide to What's Inside

2	University Profile—About Emory	17	Sustainability—Our Commitment to a Green Future
3	Excellence—Our Bragging Points	18	Emory Eagles—Athletics, Facilities, and Recreational Services
5, 7	A Glimpse of Our Campus—A Bold Vision, Landmarks and Icons	21	Health Care and Health-Centered Research—The Woodruff Health Sciences Center
9	Visitor Information—Phone Numbers, Parking, and Other Practical Information	23–24	Atlanta—Beyond and around Emory
11	Beyond the Classroom—Student Resources, Amenities, and Facilities	28	Lifelong Connections—about the Emory Alumni Association
12	Arts and Culture—Venues on Campus	28	Commitment to Continuing Education—The Center for Lifelong Learning on the Briarcliff Campus
14–15	The Campus Map—What You Need to Find Your Way around Emory

The Emory University Visitor's Guide is written and designed by the Office of Communications and Marketing, 1762 Clifton Road, Plaza 1000, Atlanta, Georgia 30322-1009, and published by Campus Publishers, 2465 Central Avenue, #203, Boulder, Colorado 80301, 303.544.1198. Copyright 2007. All rights reserved. Material contained herein may not be reproduced without written consent from the Emory University Office of Communications and Marketing, and Campus Publishers. Every attempt has been made for accuracy in the resource material printed in this magazine.

If there is an error or omission in editorial content, contact the Emory University Office of Communications and Marketing, 404.727.0639. For errors or omissions in advertising content, contact Campus Publishers at 303.544.1198.

EMORY UNIVERSITY IS AN INQUIRY-DRIVEN, ethically engaged, and diverse community whose members work collaboratively for positive transformation in the world through courageous leadership in teaching, research, scholarship, health care, and social action.

The University is recognized internationally for its outstanding liberal arts college, superb professional schools, and one of the leading health care systems in the Southeast.

Emory is enriched by the legacy and energy of Atlanta, whose downtown area is just 15 minutes away. Through collaboration among its schools, units, and centers, as well as with affiliated institutions such as The Carter Center and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Emory is committed to working for positive transformation in the world.

Emory's future is being guided by an ambitious strategic plan, "Where Courageous Inquiry Leads." Within this plan, the University has committed its unique combination of resources to address some of the world's toughest challenges and greatest opportunities—from religion, conflict, and peace building, to race and social difference, to issues of global health and new understandings of what makes us human. Implementation of Emory's strategic plan will transform its campus and positively influence local and global communities.

One of Emory's most compelling features is its location in the vibrant, international city of Atlanta. The University's campus master plan outlines a bold vision for campus development, while retaining its distinctive sense of place and a commitment to sustainability. This commitment is evident through the Clifton Community Partnership, which provides a framework for building and enhancing a vibrant living-learning-working environment in and around Emory's Druid Hills campus. In recognition of its connection to the community, Emory was one of sixty schools in the U.S. recognized as an "Engaged Institution" by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Emory maintains an uncommon balance: it generates more research funding than any other university in Georgia, while maintaining a rich tradition of outstanding teaching. This year acclaimed novelist Salman Rushdie and His Holiness the XIV Dalai Lama joined the faculty ranks. Rushdie placed his archives in the University's Woodruff Library and began a five-year appointment as Distinguished Writer in Residence. The Dalai Lama has been named Presidential Distinguished Professor.

Our quest for positive transformation in the world occurs through the inspired work of Emory's schools and colleges and their partners. From top to bottom are some of the agents of change, including the Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing, Candler School of Theology, the American Cancer Society, the student-led Volunteer Emory, and The Carter Center of Emory University.

Colleges and Schools

- Candler School of Theology
(www.candler.emory.edu/)
- Emory College
(www.college.emory.edu/)
- Emory University School of Law
(www.law.emory.edu/)
- Emory University School of Medicine
(www.med.emory.edu/)
- Goizueta Business School
(www.goizueta.emory.edu/)
- Graduate School of Arts and Sciences
(www.emory.edu/GSOAS/)
- Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing
(www.nursing.emory.edu/)
- Oxford College
(www.emory.edu/OXFORD/)
- Rollins School of Public Health
(www.sph.emory.edu/)

Students

Emory benefits from a student body that is the most ethnically and religiously diverse of any of the top-twenty national research universities, with 12,338 students from fifty states and 110 countries. There are 6,646 undergraduate students and 5,692 graduate and professional students. Emory houses a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest and most prestigious academic honor society. Emory students have received Rhodes, Marshall, Fulbright, Goldwater, Rotary, Rockefeller, Mellon, and USA Today scholarships as well as National Science Foundation Fellowships. Emory was ranked among the top ten academic institutions in the country that provide the best work environments for life science postdoctoral research professionals by The Scientist.

Faculty and Staff

Emory is the largest private employer in metro Atlanta with 21,129 employees, including approximately 3,200 faculty. Two of Emory's key strategic goals focus on faculty and staff: enhancing a diverse and distinguished faculty and becoming the workplace of choice for all staff.

Rankings

Emory University is one of the top-twenty national universities in the U.S. News & World Report annual college quality rankings. Additionally, Emory is one of twenty-five top schools in the nation tapped as a "New Ivy" in Kaplan/Newsweek's 2007 "How to Get Into College Guide" and is eighth in the country for best values among private universities in the 2007 Kiplinger's Personal Finance Magazine. Goizueta Business School's Executive MBA program ranks sixth worldwide, and the BBA program ranks fourth in the ranking of undergraduate business programs compiled by Business Week. Those programs are ranked tenth and thirteenth by U.S. News, which also ranks the full-time MBA twentieth. U.S. News ranks the School of Medicine twenty-third among research-oriented medical schools, the School of Law twentieth, and the School of Nursing ranks twenty-sixth. The School of Nursing ranks in the top ten among private nursing schools for research funding from the National Institute of Health (NIH) and its nurse midwifery graduate program ranks eighth in the nation.

Alumni

The Emory Alumni Association (EAA) represents more than 100,000 alumni living in all fifty states and more than 150 nations. Emory alumni include Pulitzer Prize winners, Rhodes Scholars, bishops of the United Methodist Church and other denominational clergy, and leaders at every level of business, education, medicine, and a wide variety of other disciplines.

Libraries

There are approximately 3.1 million books in Emory's five libraries and thousands of electronic information resources, including more than 20,000 e-journal titles. The Manuscript, Archives, and Rare Book Library of Woodruff Library acquires, preserves, and makes available for research use rare and unique materials of permanent research value. The library's holdings span from the fifteenth to the twenty-first centuries. Subject areas of special strength include British and Irish literature; African American history and culture; and the history of Atlanta and the South. The Manuscript, Archives, and Rare Book Library (MARBL) houses the Raymond Danowski Poetry Library, an extensive collection of more than 60,000 volumes of English-language poetry.

Athletics

Emory fields eighteen varsity sports under the auspices of NCAA Division III, whose members award no athletic scholarships or preferential treatment for student athletes. Emory has one of the top all-around athletic programs in the NCAA Division III, based on cumulative results in the NACDA Directors' Cup standings since fall 2000 and has had more student athletes receive NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships than any other NCAA school in the past four years.

Arts

Emory's arts programs bring together 200,000 students, faculty, guest artists, and visitors each year in a spirit of collaboration and discovery. Emory's major exhibition and presentation spaces are the Michael C. Carlos Museum and the Schwartz Center for Performing Arts. Offerings include music, theater, and dance performances, art exhibitions, poetry readings, and film screenings.

Global Perspective

Home to more than 2,000 international students and scholars, Emory sends some 40 percent of its undergraduates to study abroad on intensive learning experiences that include such opportunities as research in high-tech science labs around the world, exposure to global business through international opportunities with some of the world's best business schools, and field work in developing countries. Students and faculty in Emory's graduate school and professional schools in the fields of public health, nursing, medicine, theology, law, and business are also engaged in international research and teaching.

Financial Profile

Undergraduate tuition is $32,100. About 76 percent of all students receive some financial aid, and Emory recently created one of the most aggressive programs devised by any national research university in the country. This new program, Emory Advantage, will reduce debt incurred by lower- and middle-income students and families during the undergraduate years. Emory's operating budget is $2.6 billion, and the value of its endowment and trust funds was $4.7 billion as of August 31, 2006. Emory received $354 million in sponsored research in 2006. According to a recent study commissioned by Emory, the University spends more than $2.6 billion in Atlanta each year for a total estimated impact on the city's economy of $5.7 billion.

Woodruff Health Sciences Center

The Woodruff Health Sciences Center (WHSC) comprises those Emory University schools and units that educate health professionals, pursue research affecting health and illness, provide patient care, and develop policies for preventing and treating disease. The WHSC includes the schools of medicine, nursing, and public health; Winship Cancer Institute; Yerkes National Primate Center Research Center; and Emory Healthcare, Georgia's largest and most comprehensive health care system. The WHSC's goal is to serve humanity by making people healthy. To achieve that goal, it is investing heavily in predictive and global health initiatives, innovative ways to train the right kind of health care professionals, translation of new research discoveries into medical practice, and ways to ensure the highest quality and safety in patient care.

A GLIMPSE OF OUR CAMPUS A Bold Vision

THE VISION OF “DESTINATION UNIVERSITY” MOTIVATED THE UNIVERSITY’S COMPREHENSIVE strategic planning initiative. Together, they presaged the need for additional facilities and connections. Consequently, the University began an update of its campus master plan.

THE UNIVERSITY’S AMBITIOUS CAMPUS MASTER PLAN OUTLINES A BOLD VISION FOR DEVELOPMENT, while retaining its distinctive sense of place and a commitment to sustainability. The campus plan is envisioned as a guiding development decisions over the next ten years and providing an even longer-term physical framework. The plan update is organized around:

- History of the Campus and Established Design Principles
- Key Components of Campus Master Plan 2005 Update
- Emory and Its Neighbors
- Greening the Campus
- Campus Life
- Professional Schools
- Housing
- Academic and Administrative Space
- Health Sciences
- Transportation, Parking and Infrastructure

Emory is dedicated to being a good neighbor and working on the major issues that shape quality of life in the community. This commitment is evident through the Clifton Community Partnership, which provides a framework for building and enhancing a vibrant, living-learning-working environment throughout the Clifton Road community. This partnership has formed an exciting plan for revitalizing and redeveloping Emory Village. In recognition of its connections to the community, Emory was one of sixty schools in the U.S. honored as an “Engaged Institution” by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Acknowledged by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency as one of the “Best Workplaces for Commuters,” Emory continues to expand its alternative transportation programs. Working with the Clifton Corridor Transportation Management Association (CCTMA), the newly expanded and renamed Emory shuttle, CLIFF, takes its identity from the Clifton Road community in which Emory is located. CLIFF is sporting revamped routes and transit times to encourage Emory drivers to leave their cars at home.

The Campus Master Plan will integrate Emory’s natural setting to shape a campus that encourages interaction among students, faculty, and staff and warmly welcomes visitors. In ten years, students, faculty, staff, patients, residents, and visitors will know they are at Emory by the progressive urban designs found here in the beautifully landscaped streets, walkable, safe sidewalks, and numerous area activities, and in the confluence of people actively engaged in their community.

From top to bottom are historic Sney Hall at Oxford College, the original campus of Emory; CLIFF, the Emory campus shuttle; and Emory University campus.

Emory Icon: "The University's Front Door"

The Haygood-Hopkins Memorial Gateway was completed in 1937 and is composed of two marble pillars connected by an ornate wrought-iron arch. At the center of the span is a lantern, which has become a symbol of the University and which appears on the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences' gonfalon, or ceremonial banner. As you face the gateway, the pillar on the left is dedicated to Atticus Greene Haygood, who graduated from Emory College in 1859. Known as a preacher and a philanthropist, Haygood served as president of Emory from 1875 to 1884. The opposite pillar is dedicated to Isaac Stiles Hopkins, also an 1859 graduate of Emory College. A minister as well as a teacher, Hopkins was president of Emory from 1884 to 1888. The gateway was a gift of Linton B. Robeson, a member of the Class of 1886, whose undergraduate years spanned the tenures of both Haygood and Hopkins.

Emory Icon: The Quadrangle

The Quadrangle is the heart of Emory, where commencement is held each May. The rolling hills of Georgia's piedmont reminded Emory's original architect, Henry Hornbostel, of northern Italy, so the Quadrangle buildings were constructed in the Italian Renaissance style out of pink and gray Georgia marble.

Emory Icon: R. Howard Dobbs University Center

A central gathering place commonly known as "the DUC," the Dobbs University Center houses a cafeteria, the main Emory bookstore, banking service, the University Post Office, Mary Gray Munroe Theater, Harland Cinema, a game room, the Office of Campus Life, and offices for many student organizations.

Emory Icon: Cox Hall

Named for Harvey W. Cox, the University's first president, the Cox Hall food court is one of the primary dining spots on campus, and you will often find medical students in scrubs eating here between rounds at Emory University Hospital next door. Cox's second floor houses an ultramodern computer lab whose plush design puts all harshly lit, utilitarian computer labs to shame.

Emory Icon: The Michael C. Carlos Museum and Carlos Hall

The main museum building was designed by renowned architect Michael Graves, following his renovation of Henry Hornbostel's 1916 law school building now Carlos Hall. The main museum building showcases a distinguished collection of ancient art and archaeological objects from Egypt and Nubia, the Near East, the Americas, Asia, and sub-Saharan Africa, as well as classical artifacts from Greek and Roman sites and special exhibits from some of the world's great museums.

Emory Icon: The Donna and Marvin Schwartz Center for Performing Arts

Completed in 2003, the Schwartz Center is the long-awaited answer to the need for a unified space for the arts at Emory. It houses the renowned 825-seat Emerson Concert Hall, a dance studio, theater lab, multiple classrooms, and rehearsal spaces.

Emory Icon: Lullwater House and Park

Built in the 1920s by Walter T. Candler, son of Emory benefactor and Coca-Cola founder Asa G. Candler, Lullwater House was constructed in the English Tudor style. The house, which has served as the home of Emory University's presidents since 1963, is the centerpiece of Lullwater, a 185-acre park used by Emory community members for relaxation, exercise, and informal events. The entrance to Lullwater is located on Clifton Road next to the Woodruff Residential Center. Motorized vehicles are not permitted in Lullwater.

Emory Icon: Dooley

Dooley, the "Spirit of Emory," is well known on campus for his grand entrances with entourage at major student events each year. The identities of the different students who have portrayed Dooley through the years are perhaps Emory's best-kept secrets.

From top to bottom are a view of Atlanta's skyline from the roof of Emory Hospital; the Haygood-Hopkins Memorial Gateway, the "front door" to Emory; graduates at Emory College Commencement 2007; and an Egyptian artifact on display at the Michael C. Carlos Museum.

ONE OF EMORY'S MOST COMPELLING DRAWS IS ITS LOCATION IN THE VIBRANT INTERNATIONAL CITY OF ATLANTA.

Located only fifteen minutes from downtown, the campus is convenient to the city's restaurants, hotels, arts facilities, and parks. Its location offers easy access to Atlanta's Hartsfield-Jackson International Airport, and a nearby MARTA (Metro Atlanta Rapid Transit Authority) station provides convenient transportation around the city.

From top: Shot of downtown Atlanta; Dooley's Den in the 1916 railway station known as "Emory, Georgia" until 1946; and the circa 1920s fieldstone Houston Mill House.

Parking

Visitor parking on the Emory campus is available in any of the following decks: Peavine Lot, Lowergate Deck, Michael Street Deck, and Fishburne Lot.

Good Eats on Campus

Caffè Antico, a European-style cafe located on the top floor of the Carlos Museum, serves morning fare and lunch. The cafe features gourmet salads, pasta, sandwiches, homemade soups, breads, and superb desserts.

Cox Hall Food Court features national brands like Chick-fil-A, Burger King, Zia Juice, and Pizza Hut as well as favorites and comfort foods from Emory Market, Salsa Rico, made-to-order deli sandwiches with premium Boar's Head meats at the Sandwich Shop, and sushi made fresh daily.

Dooley's Den at the Depot is located in a historic train depot; it is famous for its sandwiches, homemade breads, big salads, fresh soups, coffees, and specialty drinks.

Houston Mill House—a historic inn tucked away in a quiet garden on the edge of campus—offers a variety of sandwiches, salads, and entrées.

Le Giverny Bistro, located in the Emory Inn, features a menu of light but sophisticated French fare.

Accommodations

The Atlanta area offers visitors a wide range of accommodations. Listed below are a few of the hotels convenient to the Emory campus.

Less than a half mile from campus (walking distance)

- Emory Conference Center Hotel
1615 Clifton Road NE
404.712.6000 or toll free 800.933.6679
www.emoryconferencecenter.com
- The Emory Inn
1641 Clifton Road NE
404.712.6000 or toll free 800.933.667
www.emoryconferencecenter.com

- University Inn, 1767 North Decatur Road,
404.634.7327 or toll free 800.654.8591
www.univinn.com

Transportation Numbers

- Emory Shuttle 404.727.6106
- Amtrak 800.872.7245
- MARTA 404.848.4711
- Greyhound 800.231.2222
- AAA Yellow Cab 404.373.0034

Taxicabs

- Atlanta Yellow Cab 404.521.0200
- Buckhead Safety Cab 404.233.1152
- Checker Cab 404.351.1111
- Decatur Best Taxi Service 404.377.0340
- Emory Yellow Cab 404.371.0883

Other Visitor Information Centers

- Atlanta Convention and Visitor's Bureau
404.521.6688, www.atlanta.net
- DeKalb Convention and Visitor's Bureau
404.378.2525, www.dcvb.org

Conference Planning

- Emory Catering (www.campuslife.emory.edu/sodexo/catering/catering.html)
- Emory Conference Center
(www.emoryconferencecenter.com/)
- Seminars on Meeting and Event Planning
(sales@ecch.emory.edu or 404.712.6201)

Important Campus Numbers

- Emory Police: Emergency _ _ _ 404.727.6111
- University Information _ _ _ _ 404.727.6123
- Hospital Information _ _ _ _ 404.712.2000
- Admission: Undergraduate _ _ 404.727.6036
- Alumni Association _ _ _ _ 404.727.6400
- Arts at Emory Box Office _ _ _ 404.727.5050
- Athletics and Recreation _ _ _ 404.727.6547
- Community Education _ _ _ _ 404.727.6000
- Libraries: Information _ _ _ _ 404.727.6868
- Parking _ _ _ _ _ 404.727.7275
- Registrar's Office _ _ _ _ _ 404.727.6042

THE DIVISION OF CAMPUS LIFE SERVES MOST FACETS OF STUDENT LIFE OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM. Its signature programs are the Jimmy Carter Town Hall meeting, The Barkley Forum for intercollegiate debate, the International Cultural Festival, Second Year at Emory, and the Faculty-in-Residence Program. (www.emory.edu/CAMPUS_LIFE/)

Clubs, Teams, and Organizations

Outside class, Emory students are involved in more than 220 clubs, teams, and organizations. Take a look at www.emory.edu/stud_activities.cfm to see some of the ways students can get involved in campus life.

Residential Life

There are a variety of on-campus housing options at Emory. All first- and second-year undergraduates are required to live on campus. For more information about on-campus housing, please visit www.emory.edu/HOUSING.

Student Life Facilities

From well-equipped recreation facilities to student centers, Emory students have knock-out resources for living. The Dobbs University Center, fondly called the DUC, is a hub of student life, housing student resources and facilities ranging from dining services to a movie theater to the University bookstore.

The Woodruff Physical Education Center (WoodPEC) accommodates four basketball courts, five volleyball and twelve badminton courts, an Olympic-sized 50-meter pool, as well as indoor and outdoor tennis courts, racquetball courts, a squash court, a rock climbing area, a dance studio, and the fitness corridor. The building provides the gateway for the varsity soccer field and 400-meter track. Additional athletic facilities include Chappell Park (baseball), Cooper Field (softball), McDonough Field, Candler intramural fields, and outdoor basketball/hockey courts. (www.wpec.emory.edu/)

Emory's Student Activity and Academic Center (SAAC) features an Olympic-size swimming pool; tennis, basketball, and volleyball courts; a strength-conditioning room; state-of-the-art classrooms; and a cafe. (www.emory.edu/HOUSING/CLAIRMONT/saac.html)

Greek Life

Emory is home to a thriving Greek system that is involved in all facets of campus life. With more than 30 percent of the undergraduate population belonging to thirteen sororities and fifteen fraternities, Greek Life provides countless opportunities for philanthropy, academic enrichment, and socializing (www.emory.edu/GREEKS).

Services

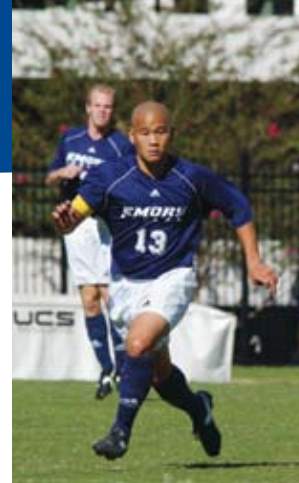

- The Career Center (www.career.emory.edu/)
- The Writing Center (www.writingcenter.emory.edu/)
- Student Health Services (www.emory.edu/UHS/)
- Counseling Center (www.emory.edu/SCOUNSEL/)
- Food Services (www.emory.edu/dining/)

Programs

- International Student and Scholar Programs (www.emory.edu/ISSP/)
- Lesbian/Gay/Bisexual/Transgender (LGBT) Life (www.emory.edu/CAMPUS_LIFE/LGBTOFFICE/about-us/index.html)
- The Office of Multicultural Programs and Services (www.emory.edu/MULTICULTURAL/index.html)
- Student Development (www.emory.edu/CAMPUS_LIFE/html/studentdev.html)
- Volunteer Emory (www.volunteer.emory.edu/)

Religious Life

As a university affiliated with the United Methodist Church, Emory provides ample and creative opportunities for enhancing religious life on campus through worship, service, education, and undergraduate and graduate student organizations. (www.emory.edu/REL_LIFE)

ARTS AND CULTURE Venues on Campus

CREATIVE ARTISTS AND SCHOLARS ADD A RICH TEXTURE TO EMORY through programs and departments of Visual Arts, Film, Creative Writing, Art History, Theater, Dance, and Music. Their increasingly popular programs attract more than 30,000 patrons annually.

Free arts events include the contemporary arts exhibitions in the new Visual Arts Gallery (700 Peavine Creek Drive); thematic film series (White Hall); award-winning authors in the Creative Writing Program Reading Series; art and architecture lectures; student arts group programs from a cappella to comedy improv; and Schatten Gallery exhibits of the Robert W. Woodruff Library.

Michael C. Carlos Museum

The collections of the Michael C. Carlos Museum span the globe and the centuries. The Carlos offers visitors the opportunity to discover masterworks from ancient Egypt and the Near East, Greece and Rome, the Americas, Asia, and sub-Saharan Africa, as well as prints and drawings from the Middle Ages to the present day, all housed in a landmark building designed by architect Michael Graves on the University's historic Quadrangle. An exciting array of special exhibitions, often developed in partnership with Emory faculty, as well as lectures, concerts, and programs for children and families make the Carlos Museum a dynamic destination to experience the world's great art. (www.carlos.emory.edu)

THE CARLOS MAINTAINS THE LARGEST COLLECTION OF ANCIENT ART IN THE SOUTHEAST.

Above: Tibetan antiquity from the Michael C. Carlos Museum permanent collection. Left to right, below: Theater Emory presents professional and student productions developed from new works and classics; Emory's vibrant music, dance, and theater groups perform in the Donna and Marvin Schwartz Center for Performing Arts.

Donna and Marvin Schwartz Center for Performing Arts

The largest of Emory's arts venues, the Donna and Marvin Schwartz Center for Performing Arts provides a central space for Emory's rapidly growing music, dance, and theater programs. The 90,000-square-foot facility includes the world-class Cherry Logan Emerson Concert Hall, which offers an elegant setting for Emory ensembles, faculty artists, and the world-renowned performers in the Flora Glen Candler Series. The Schwartz Center's Dance Studio—Atlanta's first space custom-built for dance performance—is the home of the progressive and highly respected Emory Dance Program. The center's Theater Lab is headquarters for the Emory Playwriting Center activities, a versatile environment for exciting Theater Emory readings, and a teaching lab for the Department of Theater Studies.

Theater Emory

Theater Emory presents professional and student productions developed from new works and classics. Since 1982 Emory has enjoyed a unique collaboration of professional directors, actors, designers, choreographers, playwrights, and dramaturgs from throughout the United States and abroad. They work side by side with liberal arts students in Theater Emory productions and workshops, and they serve as mentors and teachers in many courses. (www.theater.emory.edu/)

Arts at Emory Box Office Hours/Ticketing/Admission, 404.727.5050

Most events are free and do not require tickets.

Hours: Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. (The main box office sells advance tickets for most venues. Venue box offices open one hour prior to ticketed events.)

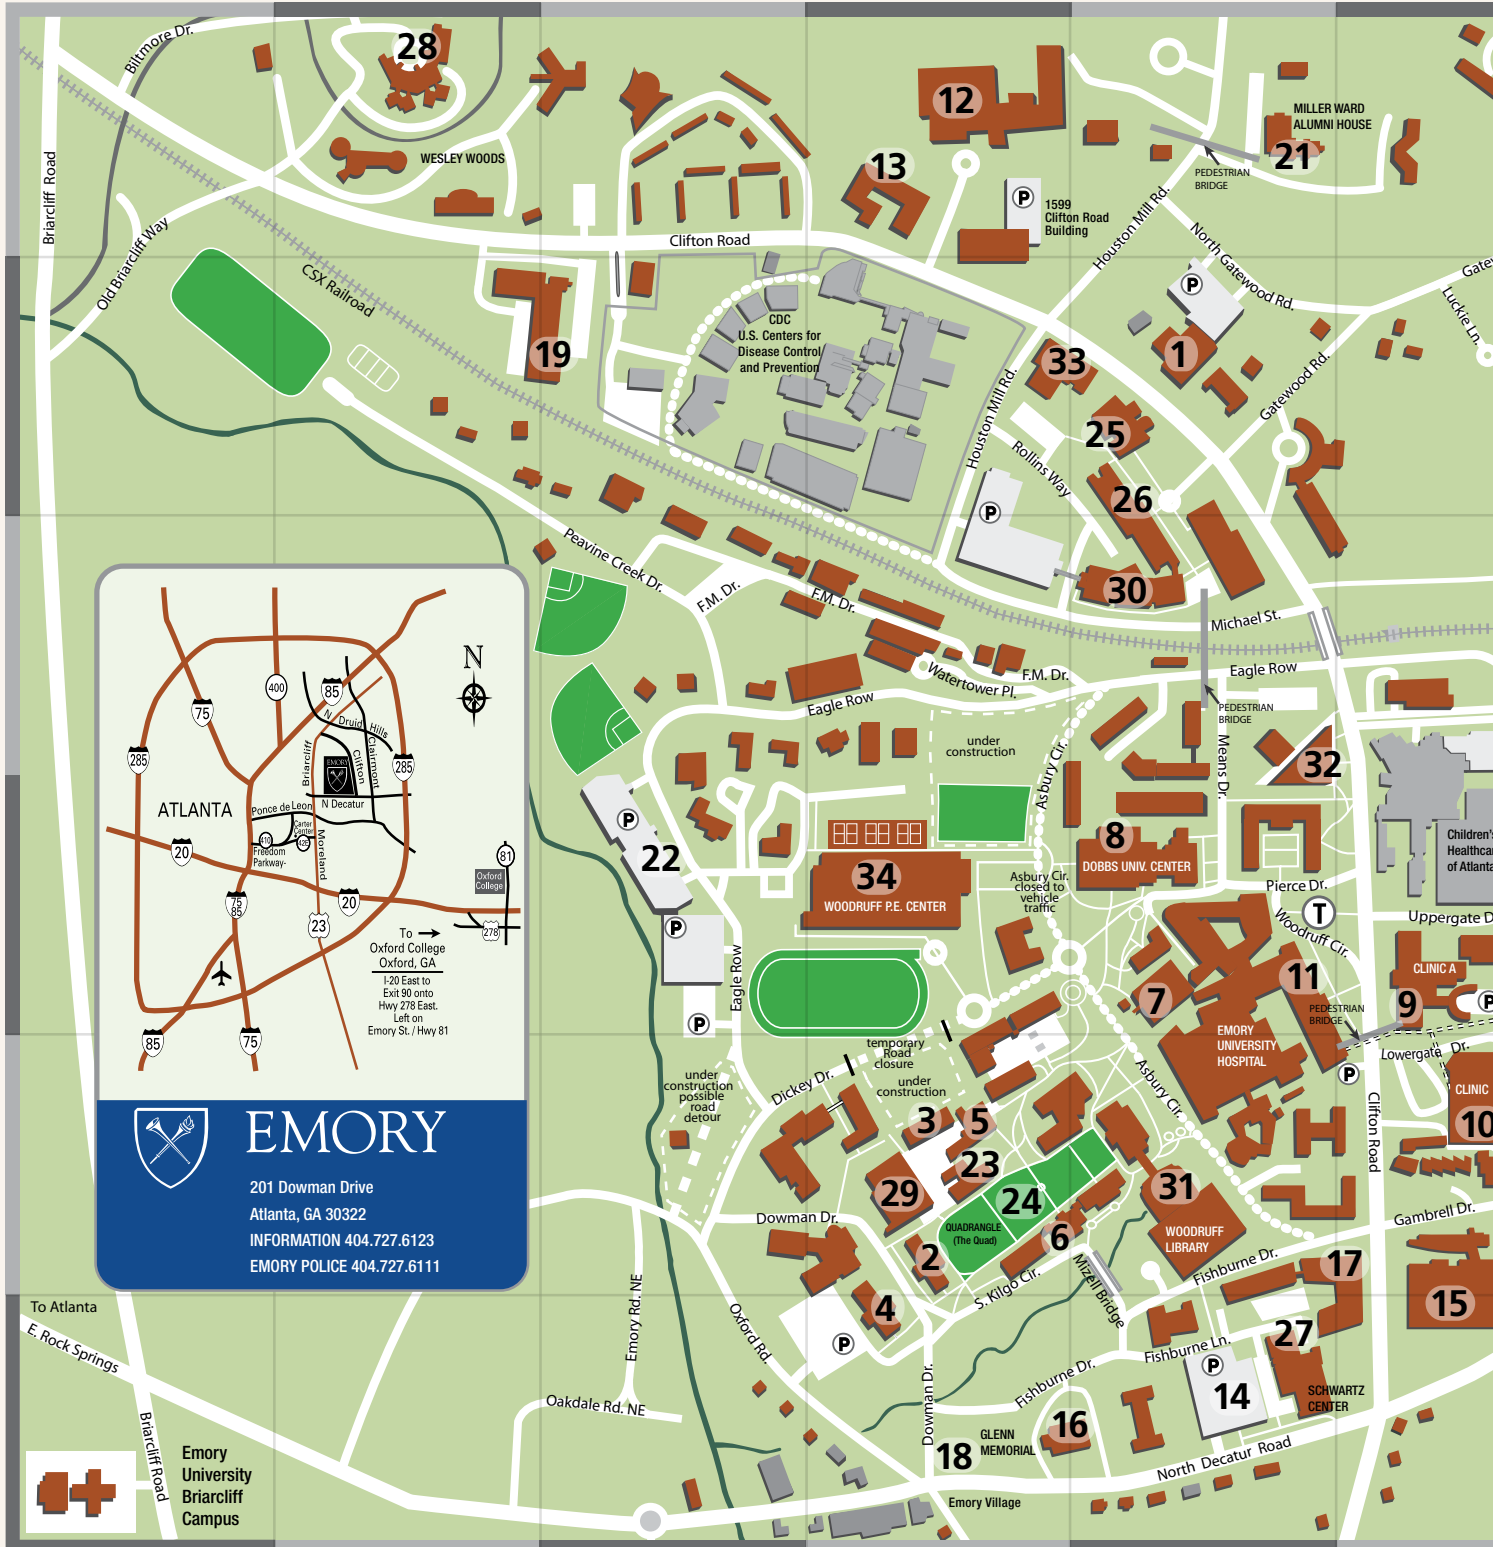

Location: Schwartz Center, 1700 North Decatur Road, Atlanta, Georgia 30322

Patron drop-off and pick-up area for patrons with special needs, along with fifteen-minute box office parking, are available in the Allen Family Plaza.

(www.arts.emory.edu/)

THE CAMPUS MAP What you need to find your way around Emory

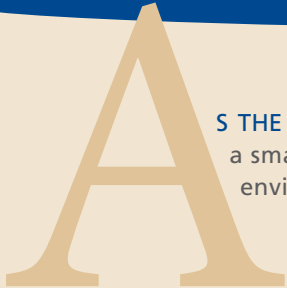

CAMPUS MAP LEGEND

- 1 1525 Clifton Road Building
- 2 Administration Building
- 3 Bishops Hall, Candler School of Theology
- 4 Boisfeuillet Jones Center, Undergraduate Admissions
- 5 William R. Cannon Chapel
- 6 Michael C. Carlos, Museum
- 7 Cox Hall
- 8 R. Howard Dobbs University Center (DUC)
- 9 The Emory Clinic, Building A
- 10 The Emory Clinic, Building B
- 11 Emory University Hospital
- 12 Emory Hotel and Conference Center
- 13 Emory Inn
- 14 Fishburne Parking Deck
- 15 Gambrell Hall (School of Law)
- 16 Glenn Memorial Auditorium
- 17 Roberto C. Goizueta Business School Building
- 18 Haygood-Hopkins Gateway
- 19 1762 Clifton Road
- 20 Lullwater Park
- 21 Miller-Ward Alumni House
- 22 Peavine Parking Decks
- 23 Pitts Theology Library
- 24 Quadrangle
- 25 Grace Crum Rollins Building (School of Public Health)
- 26 O. Wayne Rollins Research Center
- 27 Schwartz Center for the Performing Arts
- 28 Wesley Woods Center
- 29 White Hall
- 30 Whitehead Research Building
- 31 Robert W. Woodruff Library
- 32 Woodruff Health Sciences Center Administration Building
- 33 Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing
- 34 George W. Woodruff P.E. Center

SUSTAINABILITY Our Commitment to a Green Future

AS THE LARGEST PRIVATE EMPLOYER IN ATLANTA, Emory resembles a small town. Nurturing a healthy living, learning, and working environment for our community is a vital part of who we are.

This means providing innovative programs that enhance the health and work-life balance for our employees and their families. It means partnering with our neighbors and local governments to develop housing and vibrant commercial centers near campus linked by green space and pedestrian-friendly streetscapes.

- It also means acting as stewards for the environment. Emory is a leader in sustainability initiatives with:
 - More square feet of LEED-certified “green” building space than any other campus in America
 - Our Sustainable Food Initiative, which plants gardens on campus and aims to put food purchased from local and sustainable agricultural sources into our dining halls

- More than half of our 700-acre campus designated as protected land
- An entire fleet of alternatively fueled shuttles, with half running on biodiesel made from our cafeterias’ used cooking oil
- Diversion of 27 percent of our waste stream from landfills through recycling, with a goal of 65 percent by 2015
- Our nationally recognized “Piedmont Project” for faculty, which encouraged integration of sustainability into the curriculum

Top: The Mathematics and Science Building has won awards for its environmentally friendly design. Bottom (L to R): Emory shuttles reduce traffic congestion to improve Atlanta’s air quality; Oxford students trapping turtles at the Oxhouse pond as a research project for an Environmental Science class.

THE EMORY EAGLES FIELD EIGHTEEN VARSITY SPORTS UNDER THE AUSPICES OF NCAA DIVISION III, whose members award no athletics scholarships or preferential treatment for student-athletes. Emory has one of the top all-around athletics programs in the NCAA Division III, based on cumulative results in the NACDA Directors' Cup standings since fall 2000, and has had more student-athletes receive NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships than any other NCAA school.

Men's and women's sports include baseball, basketball, cross country, golf, soccer, swimming and diving, softball, tennis, track and field, and volleyball. The athletics program boasts fifty-four NCAA Postgraduate Scholars (making Emory first in the nation, leading all NCAA levels), eighty-six Academic All-Americans, nine Team National Championships, Top-8 Finish in the NACDA Directors' Cup (standings for overall athletic success every year for the past six years), 112 University Athletic Association Team Championships (forty-eight since 2000), and 21 years of competition in the University Athletic Association.

The University has three primary athletics facilities, the George W. Woodruff Physical Education Center (www.wpec.emory.edu/), the Student Activities and Academics Center (www.emory.edu/HOUSING/CLAIRMONT/saac.html), and the Blomeyer Fitness Center (<http://emory.hr.emory.edu/blomeyer/blomeyer.html>) (faculty and staff only).

Intramurals provide an athletic outlet for the entire Emory community. Undergraduates, graduate students, and faculty and staff who are members of the Woodruff Physical Education Center (WoodPEC) can participate in both competitive and recreational leagues including flag football, soccer, softball, and basketball. Also offered are annual tournaments in golf, swimming, wrestling, and tennis, among others. The Office of Recreational Services hires and trains students to officiate and supervise intramural games and tournaments.

The Club Sports Program is designed to serve any group of students, faculty, staff, or alumni who meet regularly to pursue an interest in a specific sports activity. Clubs differ in their approach to their sport. Some emphasize recreation while others are highly competitive extramural clubs. Regardless of the clubs' approach, instruction for members is provided as a part of the overall goal of each organization. Membership is open to all undergraduate and graduate students officially enrolled at Emory University and all undergraduate students officially enrolled at Oxford College. Faculty, staff, and alumni of Emory University may also join a club if permitted by that club's constitution. All club sport members must possess a valid facility-use card or student ID. (www.go.emory.edu/)

THE ATHLETICS PROGRAM BOASTS FIFTY-FOUR NCAA POSTGRADUATE SCHOLARS (MAKING EMORY FIRST IN THE NATION).

Emory Eagle Merchandise

Don't hide your pride. Located in the Dobbs University Center (DUC), Emory University Bookstore is your headquarters for all kinds of emblematic clothing and gifts featuring the new Emory Eagle. Find items online at www.emory.bkstr.com.

THE ROBERT W. WOODRUFF HEALTH SCIENCES CENTER IS AN ACADEMIC HEALTH SCIENCES CENTER COMMITTED TO PROVIDING THE BEST PATIENT CARE POSSIBLE, EDUCATING HEALTH PROFESSIONALS AND LEADERS, DISCOVERING NEW WAYS TO PREVENT AND TREAT DISEASE, AND SERVING THE COMMUNITY, BOTH LOCALLY AND GLOBALLY.

The center includes Emory Healthcare, Emory University School of Medicine, Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing, Rollins School of Public Health, Winship Cancer Institute, and Yerkes National Primate Research Center. With 16,000 employees, the center makes Emory the largest employer in DeKalb County and the largest private employer in the 10-county metro Atlanta area. With $2.1 billion in operating expenses, the center has an estimated annual economic impact of $4.6 billion on the metro area.

Research strengths within the center include vaccines for AIDS and flu; biodefense; molecular screening for development of new drugs; biomedical and tissue engineering; aging-related diseases such as Alzheimer's, Parkinson's, and macular degeneration; predictive health to predict and prevent disease before it happens; organ and tissue transplantation; global health outreach to low-resource countries; and nano-technology for diagnosis and treatment of cancer and heart disease and for DNA repair.

Experts within the center provide leadership at local and national levels to address issues such as rising health care costs, the uninsured, nursing and physician shortages, and quality and safety of medical care. The center's work is leveraged by partnerships with state and local organizations, including the Georgia Research Alliance, Georgia Cancer Coalition, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, American Cancer Society, CARE, the Arthritis Foundation, and others.

Emory Healthcare, the clinical arm of the center, is the largest, most comprehensive health care system in Georgia and includes Emory University Hospital, Emory Crawford Long Hospital, Wesley Woods Center, The Emory Clinic, Emory Children's Center, the jointly owned Emory-Adventist Hospital, and EHCA, a limited liability company created in collaboration with the Hospital Corporation of America. Emory Healthcare has 9,700 employees, $1.4 billion in net patient service revenue, and 1,184 licensed patient beds (1,582 beds including joint ventures). Emory Healthcare provides more than $70 million in charity care a year. Emory doctors also provide approximately $25 million in uncompensated care annually to patients at publicly funded Grady Hospital.

In addition to Emory's own primary and multispecialty health care centers located throughout metro Atlanta, the Emory Healthcare Affiliate Network comprises hospitals and physicians throughout Georgia, Alabama, North Carolina, and South Carolina. The affiliate network is designed to maximize Emory's resources as an academic medical center, enhance the provision of health care services, and support a community-based health care system.

In conjunction with Air Methods Corporation, Emory provides medical oversight for four Emory Flight helicopters from flight centers in metro Atlanta, Griffin, Jefferson, and Cartersville that cover Georgia and surrounding states. The Emory Flight helicopters are on twenty-four-hour standby to lift critically ill patients to the closest appropriate hospital. (www.whsc.emory.edu/)

Top: At the Winship Cancer Institute, scientists are committed to constantly accelerating efforts to discover new advancements in the fight against cancer. Bottom: The Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing has a long tradition as one of the nation's leading schools of nursing; Yerkes National Primate Research Center conducts critical biomedical and behavioral research with nonhuman primates.

ADJACENT TO THE UNIVERSITY CAMPUS, EMORY VILLAGE IS A SMALL SHOPPING DISTRICT with a variety of eateries, shops, and a few service businesses frequented by area residents and the University community. The village is located below Emory's main entrance at the intersection of North Decatur and Oxford roads.

Good eats in Emory Village:

Doc Chey's Noodle House
Eclectic noodle and rice dishes
1556 North Decatur Road
404.378.8188

Everybody's Pizza
Pizza, sandwiches, and salads
1593 North Decatur Road
404.377.7766

Falafel King
Fast Mediterranean fare
1405 Oxford Road
404.377.1716

Saba
Italian sandwiches, pastas, and salads
1451 Oxford Road
404.377.7786

Druid Hills

Emory is located in historic Druid Hills. Its beautiful, linear parks and wooded lots designed and laid out at the turn of the century by Frederick Law Olmsted stand today near the center of Atlanta's sprawling metropolitan area. Landscape and urban scholars have established that Druid Hills represents a major innovation in suburban design.

Virginia Highland

Virginia Highland is Atlanta's most popular neighborhood for shopping, dining, and nightlife. Developed in the early 1900s, it consists of six distinct commercial "villages" alternating with short, walkable blocks of charming bungalow homes. The neighborhood's name derives from the intersection of Virginia and Highland avenues. From Emory's main entrance, turn right on North Decatur Road. At the second light, turn left on Briarcliff Road. When Briarcliff meets St. Charles, turn right. At the light, turn right on Highland Avenue.

Atlantic Station

This mixed-use community is brand new, having opened in phases since 2005. Featuring dozens of restaurants, shopping, and a sixteen-screen movie theater, Atlantic Station is a fantastic oasis in the middle of the hustle and bustle of Midtown Atlanta. From the main entrance, turn right on North Decatur Road, continue until it dead ends at Piedmont Road and turn left and continue until 14th Street. Turn right, and then right again at Peachtree Street. Turn left at 17th Street, cross over the bridge, and Atlantic Station will be on your right.

Little Five Points

This area is a gathering spot for the hip, the cool, the young, and the alternative. Restaurants are diverse and very casual. Live music passes for religion in L5P, as it is known. From the main entrance, turn right on North Decatur Road. At the second light, turn left on Briarcliff Road. Briarcliff will change to Moreland Avenue once you cross Ponce de Leon Avenue. L5P will begin once you pass Mansfield Ave.

Buckhead

One of Atlanta's prestigious neighborhoods, Buckhead has a reputation as Atlanta's most affluent and elegant district. Buckhead boasts established mansions on beautiful, expansive properties, and it offers a great selection of high-end shops and restaurants. For upscale shopping, try Lenox Square and Phipps Plaza. From Emory's main entrance, turn left on North Decatur Road. At the second light, turn left on Clifton Road, then right on Briarcliff. From Briarcliff, turn left on LaVista Road. Turn right on Cheshire Bridge Road. Note the street name will change to Lenox Road once you have passed under I-85. Continue on Lenox Road until you reach Peachtree Road. Lenox Square is on the left, and Phipps Plaza is on the right once you pass Peachtree Road.

Decatur

Minutes from Emory's campus, downtown Decatur is designed around the concept of a small town's city center and offers a wide variety of dining and retail opportunities. From the main entrance, turn left on North Decatur Road. At the fifth light, turn right on Clairmont Road, which will dead-end at the Old Courthouse. Turn left onto Ponce de Leon Avenue, go one block, and turn right onto Church Street.

From top to bottom: close to Emory are Virginia Highland; the shops and restaurants of Emory Village; Piedmont Park in midtown Atlanta; and Fernbank Museum of Natural History.

Druid Hills and Poncey-Highland Museums and Attractions

Michael C. Carlos Museum

For more on the Michael C. Carlos Museum, see p. 12. (www.carlos.emory.edu)

Fine Arts at Emory University

The following are additional spaces at Emory used for fine arts exhibitions and performances. The Schwartz Center for Performing Arts provides space for Emory's music, theater, and dance programs. The Schatten Gallery is located on level three of the Robert. W. Woodruff Library. The Visual Arts Gallery, 700 Peavine Creek Drive, typically highlights the works of Emory students and faculty. Some theater productions use the Mary Gray Munroe Theater in the Dobbs University Center. Other performance spaces include the Burlington Road Building, Performing Arts Studio, Glenn Memorial Auditorium, and Cannon Chapel.

The Carter Center of Emory University and Jimmy Carter Presidential Library

View an eclectic array of art, along with mementos from the Carter White House. (www.cartercenter.org)

Fernbank Museum of Natural History

The museum provides interactive exhibits, learning stations, and an IMAX theater. (www.fernbank.edu/museum)

Midtown

High Museum of Art

Part of the Woodruff Arts Center, the High Museum of Art is Atlanta's museum of fine arts. (www.high.org)

Downtown

Imagine It! The Children's Museum of Art

Opened in March 2003, this museum presents fun and educational exhibits where children can have an interactive experience with everything they see. It opens their minds to countless possibilities, being a place where there are no wrong answers and they can touch and feel to their heart's desire. The museum is ideal for children age eight and younger. (www.imagineit-cma.org)

CNN Center and Centennial Olympic Park

Tour the studios of CNN, HeadlineNews, and CNN International. Centennial Olympic Park, created for the 1996 Olympic Games, today often hosts concerts and festivals. (www.cnn.com/StudioTour)

The Georgia Aquarium

The Georgia Aquarium opened in 2005 as the world's largest aquarium. With eight million gallons of fresh and marine water, and more than one hundred thousand fish and other sea creatures representing five hundred species from around the globe, you are sure to see things you have never seen before. (www.georgiaaquarium.org)

NEW World of Coca-Cola

See an unparalleled collection of more than 1,200 articles of memorabilia tracing the rich heritage and global reach of the world's most popular soft drink. At the end of your visit, you may sample more than seventy domestic and international Coca-Cola products. (www.woccatlanta.com/)

Top to bottom, left to right: Centennial Olympic Park, which is celebrating its tenth anniversary; Underground Atlanta; the Georgia Aquarium; and the High Museum of Art.

Emory is . . . one of the TOP 20 national universities ranked by U.S. News & World Report • hailed as one of America's "NEW IVIES" by Kaplan/Newsweek's "How to Get Into College Guide" • a LEADING RESEARCH UNIVERSITY, generating more research funding than any other in Georgia • NINE SCHOOLS: Emory College, Oxford College, the School of Medicine, Nell Hodgson Woodruff School of Nursing, Candler School of Theology, the School of Law, Roberto C. Goizueta Business School, the Graduate School, and Rollins School of Public Health • located in ATLANTA, cultural and financial center of the South and one of the nation's most international cities, home to more than 400 Fortune 500 companies, including Delta Air Lines, The Home Depot, and The Coca-Cola Company, and preeminent institutions such as the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and The Carter Center, an Emory affiliate • home to EMORY HEALTHCARE, one of the Southeast's largest and most comprehensive health care systems • a leader in SUSTAINABILITY, with more square feet of LEED-certified "green" building space than any other campus in America • recognized by the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching as an "ENGAGED INSTITUTION" for its outreach to the community • the most ethnically and racially DIVERSE student body of any top 20 national university • FACULTY LUMINARIES such as novelist Salman Rushdie, former U.S. President Jimmy Carter, and His Holiness the XIV Dalai Lama • its DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI, including senators, a vice president, governors, ambassadors, Supreme Court justices, Pulitzer Prize winners, an astronaut, and university presidents •

THE EMORY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION (EAA) IS DEDICATED TO IDENTIFYING AND DEVELOPING ALUMNI LEADERS—MEN AND WOMEN WHO ARE ENGAGED IN THE LIFE OF THE UNIVERSITY, WHETHER THEY ARE ON CAMPUS, ACROSS THE COUNTRY OR AROUND THE WORLD.

Top: The EAA engages alumni for lifetime learning and connection to Emory. Bottom, left: The Miller-Ward Alumni House; the Center for Lifelong Learning on Emory's Briarcliff Campus.

EMORY
ALUMNI
ASSOCIATION

The EAA represents more than 100,000 alumni living in all fifty states and more than 152 nations. Emory alumni include Pulitzer Prize winners, Rhodes Scholars, bishops of the United Methodist Church and other denominational clergy, and leaders at every level of government, business, education, communications, medicine, and a wide variety of other disciplines.

Emory's most important ambassadors are its alumni. Every year the EAA hosts or sponsors hundreds of events on campus and in more than forty cities around the world to encourage alumni to contribute not only to Emory's community but also their own. Through participation in EAA programs, alumni assist Emory in recruiting the finest students, they mentor current Emory students as well as fellow alumni, they provide crucial support to the University's institutional goals, and spread the word about Emory within their home communities.

The EAA provides alumni with an outlet to create and cultivate personal and professional relationships, and to get involved in the rich life of the University. The EAA keeps the spirit of Emory alive and resonating with its alumni. The EAA wants alumni to feel not only a constant connection to Emory, but also feel as if they never left.

The Center for Lifelong Learning, the University's noncredit continuing-education department, extends Emory's ideal of the learning community to adult students across metro Atlanta.

THE ECLL SERVES SELF-MOTIVATED STUDENTS, OFFERING THEM THE OPPORTUNITY TO LEARN AND TO EMPOWER, ENNOBLE, AND ENRICH THEIR LIVES THROUGH THREE PROGRAMS:

Evening at Emory

Our flagship program, Evening at Emory offers more than 200 unique self-enrichment courses each quarter, including art, history, languages, music, and writing programs.

Emory Professional Learning Programs

The EPLP includes more than 150 open-enrollment classes, seminars, and certificates each quarter for the professional community, including Emory's Paralegal and Financial Planning Certificate Programs, professional-development courses, and computer education. EPLP also works with companies large and small to deliver onsite education to meet organizational learning needs.

Emory Academy for Retired Professionals

The academy is Emory's 400-member senior-learner program. EARP instructors volunteer their time, and most have advanced degrees. The academic rigor and group participation make the Emory Academy for Retired Professionals an absorbing intellectual and social adventure.

The Emory Center for Lifelong Learning is located on the Briarcliff campus at 1256 Briarcliff Road between North Decatur Road and Ponce de Leon Avenue. For more information, call 404.727.6000 between 9:00 a.m.—5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday. (www.cll.emory.edu/)

