

EMORY UNIVERSITY

RELIGION, CONFLICT AND PEACEBUILDING INITIATIVE

IS PLEASED TO PRESENT

Tuesday, February 26, 2008

7:00pm

Harland Cinema

Emory University

Atlanta, Georgia 30322

DIVIDED WE FALL

AMERICANS IN THE AFTERMATH

A documentary film by Sharar Raju and Valarie Kaur

exploring race, religion and what it means to be American in times of national crisis

Driven to action by the murder of a turbaned man in her community, a college student drives across America in the aftermath of 9/11 to discover stories that did not make the evening news. From the still shocked streets of Ground Zero to the desert towns of the American West, Valarie Kaur's inspiring journey uncovers remarkable stories of hate, violence, fear and unspeakable loss — until she finds the heart of America half-way around the world in the words of a widow.

EMORY UNIVERSITY

Contact Info:

Juana Clem McGhee

Program Coordinator

404-727-2575

jmcghee@emory.edu

www.emory.edu/religions&humanspirit

For more information regarding the film, visit the website:

www.dwf-film.com

Co-sponsored by Graduate Division of Religion, Department of Religion and Walter Candler Endowment for the Humanities

The film screening and presentation with Valarie Kaur are free and open to the public.